MONDAY EVENING SESSION

1. The Baptist State Convention of South Carolina met in its ninety-eighth annual session in the First Baptist church of Columbia on Monday evening, January 13th, 1919, at 7:30 o'clock. This session of the Convention, according to arrangement by the Executive Committee, was to have been held at Darlington, S. C., December 9th, 1918, but on account of the influenza epidemic prevailing in that section, and more or less throughout the entire State, by action of the Executive Committee the Convention was deferred, and at a meeting of this Committee in Columbia, December 19th, it was decided to postpone the date to January 13th, 1919, and to hold the Convention in Columbia, the delegates making their own arrangements as to entertainment.

2. After singing "Come Thou Almighty King," the Convention was led in prayer by V. I. Masters, of Atlanta, Ga. Again an old hymn, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," was sung, the sixth chapter of Isaiah was read by G. W. Quick, who led in prayer, after which the Convention Sermon was preached by E. Pendleton Jones, of Batesburg, from the first clause of the first verse of the sixth chapter of Isaiah. J. S. Dill led in prayer.

3. The Secretary reported 154 delegates enrolled, and on motion of G. W. Quick this was accepted as the basis for organization and the transaction of business; and the Secretary was authorized to add to the list other delegates as they arrived.

4. The Committee on Order of Exercises reported through J. K. Goode, submitting a "regular" order of exercises as to time providing for the conclusion of the Convention on Thursday evening, and an "abbreviated" order of exercises providing for the conclusion of the Convention at noon, Wednesday. RESOLUTION

Information is necessary in the development of a people along any given line. This is particularly true of a denomination whose numbers are as great as are the Baptists of South Carolina, especially so when so small a proportion of the membership take the denominational organ. It is also true that, in order to have an informed people, it is necessary to place informing facts, attractively presented, in their hands.

It is believed that the Convention has an instrument by which a large proportion of its constituency may be reached with information with reference to its work that the rank and file of the denomination needs and should by all means have. The instrument referred to is the annual minute of the Convention. It is believed that the number usually printed is altogether inadequate to supply the needs of those who would make use of a copy, and also that the method of distribution is inadequate to the needs of our people; that in addition to the matter usually carried in the minutes, a great deal of additional matter pertaining to the work of the denomination, to the doctrines of the denomination, to plans and methods could be very easily published in the same booklet with the minutes. It is believed that wide distribution of such an annual booklet would inform our people along lines on which they are not informed, and would stimulate intelligent interest in the entire work of the denomination. It is not the purpose to have so valuable a book distributed promiscuously, but to compile a select list of names and mail them out under individual cover. In view of the foregoing, the following is offered:

1. That it is the sense of this Convention that the task of developing our constituency is primarily an educational task, and that it is the duty of the Convention to furnish its constituency with all necessary information so that it may be intelligently informed as to the work, methods and plans of the Convention.

2. It is recommended that a Publication Committee, consisting of five members, two members of which committee shall be the Recording Secretary and the Statistical Secretary of the Convention, be appointed with power to publish as many copies of the minutes of the Convention to be held in December, 1919, as may be necessary to supply the demand, and that this Committee have full power to include in the minutes whatever information it may deem advisable.

3. It is recommended that the Publication Committee be given an apportionment of $2,500, this amount to be apportioned to the district associations, said apportionment to be published in the 1918 minutes, all funds to be sent to the chairman of the Publication Committee. From these funds all expenses in connection with the publishing and distribution of the minutes are to be paid, including the salaries of the secretaries. In case a sufficient amount of money in any fiscal year is not realized from the apportionment, it is recommended that the amount necessary to cover the actual expense of the Publication Committee shall be pro rated as at present among the various boards of the Convention.

4. It is recommended that the Publicity Committee be discontinued and that the Publication Committee take over the work of the Publicity Committee.

5. It is recommended that this plan be adopted for a period of not less than five years, beginning with the next Convention.

6. It is recommended that the first meeting of the Publication Committee shall be held not later than July 1, 1919.

7. It is recommended that this paper be referred to a committee with instructions to report back to this Convention their findings; and that this committee nominate the Publication Committee. Respectfully submitted,

J. C. KEYS,
THOS. J. WATTS.

Opportunity was given for remarks with respect to the character and lives of those who had died, the congregation then united in singing, "There's a Land Fairer Than Day," and G. W. Quick led in prayer. (See reports.)

REPORTS

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD

With gratitude to God for his blessings on our work, and with appreciation of the co-operation of our faithful pastors and laymen, we close this fiscal year of the Baptist State Mission Board.

This has been a year without precedent in the recent history of the world; events of the greatest moment have made themselves felt locally, as well as universally. It was, indeed, a robust faith that one year ago expected to see the multiplicity of blessings that have been vouchsafed us. Speaking more specifically, our State, one year ago, knew that a time of great trial had come; knew that money in vaster sums than ever before contemplated would be asked; knew that the people would be called upon to give to the utmost not only of their substance, but of their blood. No call has found us remiss. For generations to come, our successors will look back and applaud what the people of today have done—will applaud, and be inspired. We learned with surprising swiftness to think in large terms, in terms of world events and staggering figures. We have subscribed and given in a manner which, if forecast some years ago, would have been regarded as the forecast of a visionary man.

Though taxed in numerous ways, the people of our denomination have, nevertheless, carried forward their usual work, though in an unusually liberal manner. Your State Mission Board has received $67,499.97, and additional sums have been given for special objects. (See financial report.) The sum raised by your State Mission Board is the largest ever raised during any one year of its history.

One hundred thirty-two men and women, employed by your State Mission Board, have carried forward the functions for which your Board exists. With increased zeal we have gone on giving the Gospel to those who, without this or some other aid, could not have had it.

The total salaries paid by your Board during the fiscal year just closed, amounted to $41,189.76. And during the same period $11,555.00 has been expended for church building; special work has been done in the military camps located within the State, a part of the expense of which has been paid by this Board.

First and last, thirteen men have been employed in this camp work, and a chapel has been built at Camp Jackson, Columbia.

The cost of the camp work was divided as follows: One-half of all expenses were paid by the Northern Baptist Convention, one-fourth by the Home Mission Board, and the remaining one-fourth by this Board.

For full information on Sunday Schools, B. Y. P. U. and Colportage, I refer you to the report of Secretary T. J. Watts, in charge of that work.

In the city of Charleston this Board has paid a part of the salary of four pastors, has bought two lots—one near the Navy Yard and one in North Charleston. Full payment has been made for the former; the latter we are paying for at the rate of $45.00 the month. The Citadel Square Baptist church of Charleston has deeded to this Board the property known as the Cooper Street Mission. As this Mission is not strategically located, it will be necessary to sell this property and build elsewhere. Meanwhile, however, we have organized in the Mission a church with some forty members, which will be the nucleus for the proposed new plant.

The result of the work done by our missionaries cannot be shown adequately by statistics, for figures never yet set forth the human and spiritual force expended, or the human and spiritual results achieved—and these results, as we all know, are of primary importance. For your information, however, we here give some aggregated figures on such features of the missionaries' labor as lend themselves to tabulation: Sermons and addresses, 8,000; conversions, 1,759; baptisms, 1,174 (this does not include the baptisms by our camp pastors, the Home Mission Board records these, and they should not be counted but once); restorations, 104; additions by letter, 1,006; churches organized, seven; church houses built, three; value of church improvements, $24,883.35; Sunday schools organized, thirteen; collected for State Missions, $4,658.35; Home Missions, $2,802.06; Foreign Missions, $3,040.25; Orphanage, $2,756.45; Ministerial Education, $744.89; Aged Ministers, $1,363.40; Education Board, $1,698.14.

The women missionaries have been tireless workers—attending the sick, visiting in the homes and, in general, carrying out a splendid social program and religious program.

This Board has been grieved, during the year, by the loss of Rev. E. P. Easterling, one of its members, and one of the finest pastors with whom this State was blessed. A character of rare worth has been taken from us.

The office force of this Board consists of the corresponding secretary; the secretary in charge of B. Y. P. U., Colportage and

Sunday school work; a stenographer who is also bookkeeper for the Colportage Department, and an assistant bookkeeper.

Having closely watched the work and the needs for some years, and basing my conclusions on judgments grounded in experience, I respectfully recommend that for the ensuing year the State Mission Board project its work on the basis of $70,000.00. Of this sum $15,000.00 should be used for church building, $10,000.00 going to the First church at Rock Hill in accordance with the wishes of the State Convention as expressed in Greenville. I believe the time has perhaps come when this Board can take care of all our mission, enlistment and organization work, and thereby relieve the Home Mission Board of the necessity for carrying a part of the expense attached to such work.

C. E. BURTS,
President.

W. T. DERIEUX,
Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD

We your Committee to which was referred the report on State Missions have taken notice of the prosperous year which the Board has had. That so much money has been raised for the work of the Board during the past year and that such gratifying results have attended the labors of our missionaries is cause for profound gratitude. In the verbal report of the secretary it was stated that this is the best report in the history of the Board, and that in only one respect have results failed to exceed those of all previous years, viz., in the number of conversions and baptisms reported. The explanation needs to be added that the Board has not reported conversions and baptisms among our soldiers in the army camps within the State, leaving these to be reported by the Home Mission Board. Had these been reported the results would have been larger than in any previous year.

We heartily approve of raising $15,000 for church building, $10,000 of which is to be expended on the house of worship of the First church at Rock Hill.

The report of the secretary recommended the raising of $70,000 for State Missions during this year. This is an increase of $10,000 over the apportionment of last year, but we believe that the demands of the work are such as to justify the increase, and recommend that $70,000 be made the financial objective of the Board for the year.

We recommend that the Convention give its approval to the recent action of the Board in employing Brethren H. C. Buchholz and J. Dean Crain as evangelists at large within the bounds of the State.

The report of the Secretary suggests that the time has come when South Carolina Baptists shall cease to ask the Home Mission Board for help in the "care of all our mission, enlistment and organization work, and thereby relieve the Home Mission Board of the necessity for carrying a part of the expense attached to such work." Your Committee has given careful consideration to this matter and recommends that co-operation with the Home Mission Board, as suggested, be not discontinued.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS, B. Y. P. U. AND COLPORTAGE OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD, DECEMBER 1, 1918

The Convention year just closed has been fraught with unusual difficulties in the work of Sunday Schools, B. Y. P. U. and Colportage. Some of the work planned for at the beginning of the year had to be abandoned on account of the prevalence of contagious diseases and the resultant quarantines. Few institutes or conventions could be held after the middle of September. Even during the early spring the closing of the churches and schools served to retard much of the work that was in progress. Also the effect of the epidemics and the demands of the government in time of war has been very keenly felt in both the Sunday schools and the young people's societies. But allowing for these conditions we have cause for great satisfaction in the forward movements along all the lines of work committed to us.

I

Advancement in Sunday School Teacher Training and Other Phases of Sunday School Improvement

1. Our Teacher Training Movement. We speak of this before other things because it is first in importance. Our progress in other important directions has ever been proportionate to the measure of results here. We now have 2,100 teachers holding the Normal diploma and approximately 2,500 additional credits for advanced courses.

During the past ten years probably as many teachers have studied our Normal courses as are now in active service in the Sunday schools. A large number of these hold certificates for courses partially completed.

During the past year nearly 400 Normal diplomas have been awarded to our teachers and 1,200 credits for advanced courses have also been bestowed.

There have been conducted by pastors and others upwards of 100 teacher training classes and in these there was an aggregate enrollment of more than 1,000.

The Contribution of Our Educational Institutions. Our Normal courses have been accorded a distinct place in all our schools and colleges. Nine hundred separate book awards have been won by students in these institutions during the year. Anderson College has the distinction of having her students surpass all others in the South in the total number of book awards received. Coker College leads all Southern institutions in the number of Normal diplomas. Is it too much for us to expect that every one of our college and academy students shall become an evangel of better Sunday schools wherever they locate after graduation?

Our Rural Institute Campaign. Last winter there was projected under the direction of the Department a special campaign for teacher training in rural churches. One hundred Normal institutes were arranged for with more or less definiteness. Eighteen brethren experienced in teaching the Normal books were secured to conduct seventy-two of these institutes. The plan worked well until the early fall when it was necessary to accept conditions as they were and leave off the undertaking until next year. About half of the institutes planned for were successfully conducted. The first division of the Normal Manual was taught in true text-book fashion and there were many examinations taken. These institutes were held in fifteen associations. We are confident that the effort should be renewed on a really worthy scale next spring. The expenses of this special work were borne jointly by the State Board and the Sunday School Board.

Normal Schools at Anderson and Coker. Two college training schools were conducted last spring, one at Coker and the other at Anderson. These were conducted especially for the students in these institutions. The attendance in the two schools exceeded 500. They were productive of permanent results in teacher training. Practically all of the students took one or more of the courses offered.

Sunday School Conventions. Sunday school conventions were held in twenty-three district associations. These were the Barnwell, Union County, Colleton, Beaverdam, Pee Dee, Florence, Welsh Neck, Laurens, Savannah River, Edisto, Chesterfield, Fairfield, Southeast, Pickens, Broad River, York, Santee, Edgefield, Chester, North Greenville, Orangeburg, and the Ridge. Plans were made at the beginning of the year for a convention in each district association. We confidently hope for the fruition of these plans next year. The conventions are invaluable for bringing our work within range of every church. Our people attend the conventions in goodly numbers. The programs are along constructive lines and follow in most cases suggestions given by the Sunday School Department.

City Training Schools. Owing to untoward conditions only one of these schools was conducted during the year, viz., the one in the city of Columbia. This school is a fixed institution for the training of the forces in and around Columbia and is largely attended. We plan to conduct others in the larger centers during the coming year.

Summer Schools. The Pee Dee Summer School was conducted at Coker College, Hartsville, June 9-15. The faculty was the best to be had in the South and the enrollment was highly satisfactory for the first year. The enrollment exceeded 250. One hundred and fifty persons from churches outside of Hartsville attended the classes and these represented seventy-five churches and twelve associations. This school will be continued the coming summer. The Summer School of the State Teachers' Association was conducted as usual in connection with the sessions of the Summer Assembly and the results were fair. There are so many attractions during the Assembly that we have found it difficult to carry the training work on a truly worthy scale. But many go to the Assembly to study teacher training and the effort is worth while.

2. Improvement in Buildings and Equipment. This phase of work has been given very special attention by the Department and the results have been truly gratifying. Several new church houses have been begun during the year and several houses have been completely remodeled to meet the requirements of the Sunday school. Other improvements are in immediate contemplation. The Sunday school Secretary meets with architects and building committees for conference relative to proposed buildings and improvements. Plans and specifications for small and inexpensive buildings are furnished through the Educational Department of the Sunday School Board at small cost. Some of our country churches now have equipment that would strain many of our town churches to equal.

The internal equipment of the schools has also had much of our attention and many schools have been aided in securing better facilities for teaching in the way of blackboards, maps, seatings and other furnishings.

3. Efforts Looking to the Numerical Growth of Our Schools. We have stimulated schools to strive to secure larger enrollments by means of the Sunday school census and carefully kept records. We are now engaged along with all the other states in securing the enlistment of our quota in Sunday school attendance.

II

The South Carolina Baptist Assembly and Bible Conference

This Assembly was convened in its fourth annual session June 26 to July 6. Approximately 500 workers from every section of the State were in attendance. The buildings of Furman University proved inadequate to accommodate the guests and Greenville Womans College was used for a part of the overflow. The expenses were fully met without recourse to the contingent fund. Plans for the Assembly of 1919 are now under way and some of the best talent in the country has been engaged. The presence of so large a number of our pastors last summer was gratifying. A number of the pastors brought their entire families. We feel that the Assembly should be extended over a period of two weeks and that special attention should be given to evangelism, efficiency and teaching. The Pastors' Seminarium or Summer School should be extended in its scope and should cover two weeks of time instead of one as heretofore.

A New Venture. The Piedmont Summer School for Sunday school teachers will be held next June in the buildings of Anderson College. Already the Saluda Association has been joined by several surrounding associations in the promotion of this school. We confidently look for a large body of workers to attend it.

III

Our B. Y. P. U. Work

Our young people's work in Senior and Junior Unions is receiving special attention at the hands of Brother Joseph A. Gaines, our B. Y. P. U. field worker. It is our purpose to develop the Unions that we have and to organize hundreds of others in the near future. The present year has been one of great difficulty in furthering this interest but as the health and other conditions return to a normal state we look with confidence to the realization of large results.

Brother Gaines, besides devoting the major portion of his time to the B. Y. P., has rendered valuable service in the Sunday school conventions, training schools, and Summer Assembly. He is now available as a representative of the department for any service that may be desired and especially to aid in the work of training our host of young people.

IV

Colportage and Bible Distribution

More than 7,000 volumes of books and Bibles have been distributed during the year. While we have had no salaried colporters we have had a number of volunteer workers who have greatly aided in placing books and Bibles where they were most needed. We have distributed about as much literature in this way and through our depository on mail orders as was distributed when we had a number of regularly employed colporters. However, missionary colporters are greatly needed in many sections of the field and these should be employed if suitable men can be found. We do not need mere book salesmen but good ministers of Jesus Christ who will go among the people evangelizing, teaching and disseminating good literature.

The Corresponding Secretary in his financial report shows that the Department now has stock and fixtures invoiced at $1,857.40 and net assets of $1,978.26. The latter includes the former. These assets represent no outlay of mission funds but the accumulation of the past four years in the way of profits and special gifts of the Sunday School Board. Our sales have amounted to approximately $5,000. We have made many donations of Bibles and Testaments and some gifts of other books. We hope to greatly increase these figures. Were our pastors and workers to send their orders for books to us there is no doubt that our sales would speedily reach $10,000.00 or $20,000.00 We urge them to remember to do so. Respectfully submitted,

THOS. J. WATTS, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST ASSEMBLY AND BIBLE CONFERENCE

The fourth annual South Carolina Baptist Assembly and Bible Conference incorporating the twenty-second annual convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of South Carolina, the fourth annual convention of the Baptist Teachers' Association, the fourth annual meeting of the Federation of Baptist Organized Classes, the Baptist Pastors' Summer Conference, and the summer conference of the Woman's Missionary Union, was held in the buildings of Furman University, Greenville, June 26 to July 5, 1918.

The Assembly was the most successful thus far held in the State. The attendance was gratifyingly large. The talent presented was the best to be had in the country. The cost of maintenance was fully met. Thus in the midst of war and in the face of many untoward conditions including high rates on the public carriers and the advanced cost of living, together with the depression of the spirits of many of our workers because of the casualties and fatalities of war, we were able to demonstrate the virility of the summer assembly idea among our people. We are encouraged to reckon the Summer Assembly among the fixed and permanent institutions of the Baptists of South Carolina. We believe that the time has now come for the enlargement of its scope and the lengthening of the time of its holding. We are especially concerned to make the Assembly a more thorough summer school for preachers and teachers; a greater agency for the vitalizing of our every denominational interest and a more significant gathering for the deepening of the spiritual life of our people. To this end we recommend:

First, that the next Assembly be held for a period of two weeks and that the dates be June 22 to July 4 inclusive.

Second, that we utilize the equipment of Greenville Womans College together with the dormitories of Furman University. It is the expectation of the Committee to use the G. W. C. for Assembly headquarters and the dormitories of Furman for such as cannot be accommodated in G. W. C.

Third, that the Pee Dee Summer School at Coker College and the Piedmont Summer School at Anderson College be correlated and co-ordinated with the Assembly and share in an equitable manner the income provided for its maintenance.

Fourth, that the first Sunday in May be designated Summer Assembly Day in the Sunday schools and B. Y. P. U's. of the State and that on this day special offerings be made for the use of the management in maintaining the Assembly at Greenville and the two summer schools co-ordinated with it.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE W. QUICK, President.

THOS. J. WATTS, General Secretary.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE

We have come to give an account of another year's work at the Orphanage.

The year just closing has brought us many blessings, it has likewise brought us some misfortunes.

During the year we have been so unfortunate as to suffer the loss of Smith Home cottage by fire. Work of rebuilding was promptly undertaken notwithstanding the unfavorable times for building, and the house has been restored. A bungalow for boys has been erected during the year on the Maxwell Farm in order that a group of farm workers may be lodged conveniently near their farm duties.

The year 1918 is noteworthy because of the number of gifts that have come to the Orphanage from different estates. None of them are large, and yet it indicates that our people have the Orphanage upon their hearts and that they are planning for its enduring support. The Treasurer's report shows the following legacies received:

Mrs. Fannie Cole	$518.96
M. L. Lemmond	333.33
J. C. Long	250.00
C. F. Revell	100.00
Wm. E. Thomas	264.43
Mary Britt Alston	25.00

In addition to these amounts we have a gift of $1,000 from a brother for the purpose of founding a scholarship. He requests that his name shall not be given publicity and we respect his wishes in the matter. $500 in cash has been contributed by Bro. W. J. Price, of Aiken, for the purpose of starting a fund to erect a building for domestic science for the girls. This building is very much needed, and it would be a satisfaction to be able to push this work to its consummation.

At the meeting of the Trustees last December it was decided to sell the cotton mill stock that was owned by the Orphanage, and this was done early in the year. The money secured from this sale was invested in first mortgage on real estate.

The Trustees held their annual meeting in May to transact such business as came before them. The evident growth and development of the work under able management was a source of great satisfaction.

We acknowledge the goodness of our Heavenly Father in turning the hearts of our Baptist people to our Orphanage, and for the many blessings which he has bestowed upon us.

G. B. BUELL, President.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 30, 1918

In humility, but with unspeakable gratitude, we come to the close of another year and recount briefly the activities of the Orphanage.

Living not a great distance from the hunger line all the time we have had not as great a margin as might be called comfortable. When the war came upon our country and the prices of food, clothing and fuel went soaring to the skies, some feelings of apprehension were inevitable and not to be suppressed. However, we have in the face of it all enlarged rather than retrenched. We are caring for more of the helpless and destitute orphan children than at any time in the history of the Institution. It has been planned by many of our people to do larger and more liberal things than usual for the orphans. Consequently, while we have had large demands and have accomplished more, the supporters of the work have responded in a record breaking way. Increased demands have provoked increased liberality, and as we realize that more children are being served than ever before, we feel that our lack of faith is genuinely rebuked.

Improvements

At the meeting of the Trustees at Rock Hill last December it was decided to discontinue the customary summer vacation for the children. Many objections had arisen with regard to this plan and some of them were of such a serious nature that the Trustees were influenced to take this action. Many of the children leaving the Orphanage for a full month were allowed to roam city streets without protection or direction and to absorb all the evil that was afloat. Many of them were neglected as to health and came back ill from imprudence and bearing ailments that were entirely unnecessary and were absolutely due to neglect during their vacation. In many cases seeds of dissatisfaction were sown that resulted in making the child unhappy upon his return to the Orphanage. The passage of the resolution by the Trustees was not iron-clad, but left permission for children to go to visit their relatives for short periods when there seemed to be a real reason for so doing.

It was realized by the Trustees that this would be a great deprivation to the children and so effort was made to supply in some measure the pleasure that was withdrawn. A hut was provided for them in the heart of Maxwell woods, about a mile and a half from the Orphanage village. Arrangement was made whereby they may be accommodated for the night in groups of twenty-five. Many picnic parties went out during the summer to the hut and found recreation and pleasure in doing so. It was planned that a swimming pool should be provided at the foot of the hill near the hut, but we were not able to carry out the plan this year, though we hope to have the pool ready for next summer by all means.

Farm, Garden and Orchard

Our most earnest efforts to produce fruit and vegetables for the children have been only partially successful this year. Few of the yields reached what we had planned for and desired.

We report 1,662 gallons canned vegetables and peaches taken care of last summer. Usual garden supply of asparagus, beans, potatoes, butter beans, collards, cucumbers, cabbage, lettuce, okra, onions, peas, salad, squash, tomatoes and turnips have been supplied the different cottages. The milk supply reached 14,322 gallons, a falling off from last year, whereas we should have had an increase. 825 bushels of corn, thirty tons of stover, ten tons of hay, 200 bushels of oats, 600 bushels of wheat, fresh beef and pork weekly for about seven months during the year, 900 bushels sweet potatoes and seventy-five barrels Irish potatoes constituted the main items from the farm.

Part of the farm was rented out and $772.50 was the amount secured. The total valuation of all products from orchard, farm and garden is estimated at $18,540.05.

A New Cottage

Early in the year it became apparent that we should not be able to secure hired labor with which to cultivate the large farm. The local trustees could fall upon no other plan than to have our orphan boys undertake the work. It seemed necessary for efficiency to build a cottage out on the Maxwell farm in order that the boys might be adjacent to their job. To meet the exigency some funds coming in from the Eason estate were used to defray the expenses of building a wooden bungalow for the accommodation of a new unit of twenty-five boys. The house was completed and occupied in April and the boys have done the major part of the work in cultivating the crops this year. Effort has been made to keep the boys out of school as little as possible in order that injustice might not be done them. In days of unusual pressure in gardening and farming the girls have been called upon for assistance and upon occasions we have had as many as one hundred boys and girls in the field working for half day periods.

Repairs

In the work of repairs we have been very active during the year. With the growth of the Orphanage family the seating capacity at the chapel was overtaxed and it became necessary to make some enlargement. A partition wall was removed and the floor was rearranged, additional seating capacity was supplied and now the entire family of children and grownups can be accommodated in the building. While we are comfortable enough in the chapel building, it is quite evident that it is only a makeshift. The building does not comport with the other substantial and attractive houses at the Orphanage and was never meant to be a permanency. It is evident that within the next few years it will be necessary for us to make plans for a permanent, attractive and substantial church house that will be adequate for congregation and will also accommodate the Sunday school classes. The growth of the Orphanage will soon make this imperative and we would do well to begin to make plans for this near necessity. Nine years ago the Woman's Missionary Union of the State undertook to raise a fund of $1,000 as a beginning for a chapel. They paid in this sum and a little more. The amount has been invested and therefore has been accumulating year by year. At present the fund is $1,883.42.

During the year we have found the new shop to be invaluable as headquarters of the repair department. We have a competent man in charge of the shop and he looks after the stoves and stove repairs, plumbing repairs, and minor wood work repairs at the Institution. Three of the Orphanage boys have worked with him as assistants. Roofs have been painted and some older buildings have also received a new coat of paint. Many odd jobs come up under this head constantly and it is always well to give them prompt attention since "A stitch in time saves nine." The wood working machinery will prove to be more and more valuable year by year. Turning lathes, boring machinery, planers, jig saws, and the like give equipment that will meet ordinary needs. The expense for repairs in the treasurer's report this year may seem unusually large, but this is accounted for by the fact that the foreman's salary and all shop expenses of whatever character are charged to repair account.

The Terrill Smith Home

When the State Convention met in Darlington in 1898 the Orphanage report called attention to the fact that the Terrill Smith Home had been completed and occupied in July preceding. It is a coincidence that we come again to Darlington with the annual Orphanage Report and state that a new Terrill Smith Home building has just been completed. On the first day of June, after twenty years of service, lacking one month, the house caught fire and rapidly burned to the ground. We collected $3,000 insurance on the building and gifts came in as special contributions to help restore the building. Fortunately the outside brick walls were intact and could all be used. The intersecting walls all had to be removed, as they were cracked by the fire and it was not thought safe to leave them. We consider ourselves fortunate that in such a time of exigency as that through which we have passed in recent months we have been able to secure workmen and material for reconstruction of this building. The house has just been completed and we will now proceed to fill it with boys.

Health

Perhaps none of us in this State recall such an experience with regard to the weather as that through which we went last winter. We have nearly forgotten about it already, but it was serious enough at the time. Through it all we were graciously blessed with splendid health at the Orphanage. No serious cases of illness developed. The truth is we have had a most extraordinary year as regards health and but for the influenza epidemic of October could have submitted an unprecedented report. However, even this epidemic leaves us unimpaired; for though 108 children were affected none of them developed pneumonia or any complications whatever. Many of the cases were so light that it is really a question as to whether they should be included in the account. School was of course broken into for several weeks, but the experience is now in the past and we have got away from it and forgotten it.

During a great part of the year we have had bi-monthly visits from two Government experts detailed from the Health Department of the United States to oversee our children and to make observations as to diet and health. It was an extreme gratification to have no serious criticism from them with regard to diet and plan of caring for the children. Their special search for pellagra was closed without a reward as they could find no evidence of it among the children. They completed their work in October and discontinued their visits. They were very complimentary with regard to conditions at Connie Maxwell.

During the year we have had on duty at the Alderman Sanitarium a trained nurse as usual and have also had attendance and attention from local physicians and local dentist as in the past. For information I submit report of trained nurse for the year:

Miscellaneous

During the year we have installed some playground apparatus and the children have found great enjoyment in its use. The spot selected for the playground is adjacent to the Maxwell Building and therefore central and convenient. Nearly all the apparatus was made in our own shop and put up by our own people. It answers the purpose just as well as the very expensive goods that are purchased from the North. The playground is of course patronized by both boys and girls.

It was a high pleasure to the officers as well as to the children to have the honor of entertaining last April the Tri-State Conference of Orphanage Workers. Representatives of Institutions in North Carolina, Georgia, and South Carolina attended. The meetings were held in the office building and were very profitable and certainly pleasurable.

As was to be expected, we suffered great losses during the year among the older boys. The craze for war service set in among them and many of them left to seek positions of one sort or another in connection with service for Uncle Sam. Forty-five former pupils of the Orphanage are known to have been actually enlisted in army service. We are proud of these boys and gratefully record their willing service for their country.

Usual work has been carried on in the school. Ten grades are maintained and in addition a music teacher is employed to give piano lessons and to teach sight singing as well as to assist in the chorus and choir work. Notwithstanding the difficulty of securing teachers we have been able to maintain all the grades in the school. June 28 closed the year's work and the following young people received certificates, having completed the course of school work: Clarence Gilbery McWaters, Julia Nette Smith, Janie Nelle Smith, Ella Caroline Morgan, Hattie Othella Fuller, Jessie Barbara Kirby, Claudia Bernice Brown, and Evelyn Louise Purser.

Forty-seven new children have been received into the Orphanage since our last report.

Gifts of merchandise amounting to an estimated value of $5,607.60 have come in during the year. Many of the ladies' societies clothed a child each. The cotton mills have made frequent and in several cases, generous donations of goods of their own manufacture. Farmers have made gifts of produce and many friends have sent "in kind" what they could not perhaps have sent in money.

A. T. JAMISON, Superintendent.

REPORT ON REPORT OF THE CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE

Your Committee to whom the report on the Orphanage was referred recommend the adoption of the report, and express appreciation of the splendid service the Orphanage management is rendering.

J. H. MITCHELL.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education submits its fourth annual report in a spirit of profound gratitude to God for his blessings upon our efforts and with thankfulness to the brethren over the State for their faithful co-operation. We ought to bear in mind that while this is the fourth annual report it is in reality the report of the third year's work, as the first report covered only part of the year. Our Board has had a double task this year, hence we make the report in two sections.

The Current Work

We are gratified to report that the Current Support work of the Board has met with much favor at the hands of the brethren and the churches as is shown by the steady increase in contributions to this work. The total receipts of the Board for the year just closed, aggregated $10,167.02. Of this amount, $9,218.07 was contributed by the churches, Sunday schools and mission societies of the Convention. A full financial statement will be found at the end of this report.

In passing from this item, we desire to call the attention of our people to the very great importance of this Current Support Fund and to urge upon our pastors and leaders that they see to it that their churches make regular annual contributions to this fund. The apportionment for the ensuing year is placed at $20,000. We should not be content to fall short of this amount during the next Convention year. Let us not think that the completion of the present campaign for our institutions will render this fund unnecessary. It is our purpose, just as soon as the schools and colleges can be relieved of the burden of debt, to convert this fund into an educational fund, whereby we may render real and needed help to the many boys and girls who are anxious to attend our schools, but who cannot do so without assistance. This work of actually helping to educate our young men and women ought to be the living heart of all our efforts in the field of education. We build and equip institutions, not for their own sake, but as agencies for the training of our people. Hence our task will not be done when we shall have rid our institutions of debt, and shall have given them the equipment and endowment they need. Our real educational task will then be just begun!

Our Campaign

By order of the Convention our Board undertook to launch a campaign this year for $350,000 for our institutions. The Executive Committee of the Board met and decided upon a ninety day campaign to be put on in September, October and November. Arrangements were made for a simultaneous campaign in all the associations for the time specified. We had one month, the month of September, in which we could work unhindered. With the first of October the epidemic of influenza set in over the State and all our plans were disarranged. Through the faithful and consecrated work of a number of our canvassers and the splendid co-operation of the pastors, we were able to put several associations "over the top" with a margin to their credit. In other associations, the work was so greatly hindered by the influenza that little more than a start was made. However, in spite of the epidemic and the war drives we are able to report that fully half of the amount has been subscribed, with considerably less than half of the territory canvassed. While the campaign has been retarded by this fearful epidemic, we have every reason to believe that we shall and it is our purpose to finish the task with a great triumph by April 30th. The prospects are that nearly every association will reach its full quota and that many will go far beyond the amount asked of them. We are working for four hundred thousand dollars as a minimum, as it will take this amount to make sure that we shall have the amount we need, over and above all expenses and shrinkage.

The Board here wishes to express its very great appreciation for the interest manifested by our people as a whole. More than once has it been said that the people are responding to this cause as never before! Faithful work has been done by many pastors whose names are too numerous to mention in this report; many laymen also have rendered valuable assistance in many ways, while many of our best churches have graciously loaned their pastors to the Board for this work, the churches meanwhile paying their pastors' salaries as usual. The State

Mission Board also loaned us some of its workers, for which we are grateful. It is only just that a very real word of gratitude be spoken for the unstinted help of The Baptist Courier. The Courier has given much valuable space to advertising the campaign and its able editor has made notable contributions to the literature on the subject in his editorial utterances. To one and all who have made possible our present measure of success and whose unwavering loyalty guarantees the complete success of this our greatest denominational effort in the State, we wish to express our genuine gratitude.

The Five Year Program

It is known to all of us that the Southern Baptist Convention at its last meeting adopted a program calling for the raising of fifteen million dollars for our Southern Baptist institutions of learning; for the enrollment of thirty-five thousand students in our Southern Baptist schools, and the consecration of three thousand five hundred lives to the work of the gospel ministry. We recognize in this a great forward movement of Southern Baptists. While we have not worked out any detailed plan for the Baptists of this State in regard to this Southwide program, we wish to express our great interest in the movement and to state that we are sure that at the proper time, the Baptist Convention in this State will undertake its part in this great educational program.

The Denomination and the Common Schools

We wish to call the attention of our people to the present growing interest in the work of the common schools in our State, and to urge upon our people that they take an active and earnest part in the movement to rid our State of the stigma of illiteracy which is now upon us. This condition of illiteracy constitutes at once our great economic, social and religious problem. The future growth and development of our denomination depends in a large measure on the solution of this problem. The Christian church, no less than the state, is concerned with the intelligence of the people. We urge, therefore, that our people individually and collectively do all in their power to advance every righteous effort to rid our people of this fearful handicap of illiteracy.

We recommend that the reports of the colleges and academies be published in the Minutes along with this report.

REPORT ON REPORT OF EDUCATION BOARD

Your Committee to whom was referred the report of the Education Board beg leave to submit the following report:

Current Fund

First: We gratefully appreciate the growing interest of the churches and societies in the Current Support Fund of our Board. The first report made by this Board showed contributions to this fund of about three thousand dollars, the second report shows about five thousand dollars, the third report seven thousand dollars, and the last report shows over ten thousand dollars. We heartily recommend the continued support of this part of the work and call upon our churches and societies to make an honest effort to raise the full amount asked.

Campaign

Second: We regret the inability of the Board to complete the education campaign. Still we appreciate the fact that a great amount of work has been done under the conditions. During the month of October all our churches were closed and in many places for a longer time. The Government urged no meetings of any kind and we were compelled to desist in a great way from efforts to raise this fund. Yet there is no reason for discouragement. The churches and associations that have been worked have shown a fine spirit of determination to succeed, and we believe that Providence favoring, we will see the work completed by April the 30th.

We would recommend:

1. That our pastors, churches, W. M. S's. and Sunday schools take up the work with renewed energy and faith in God. If we have a will to succeed we shall succeed. To accomplish this is no small task and calls forth the best energies we possess. In some places the work has already been accomplished and more than has been asked has been given. Since this work is for the whole State, and is the greatest work the denomination has ever undertaken, no church ought to fail to have a part in its accomplishment.

2. We further recommend that the campaign be advertised from every pulpit, in The Baptist Courier and in the local papers as far as possible. This form of publicity used by the Red Cross workers and others has meant their success and if properly conducted will mean much in our campaign.

3. We recommend that there be a united, paryerful determination to succeed. Such a determination will mean much toward success. To fail after so many churches have done so nobly will throw us back many years in our development. We must pay our debts or we stand a chance to lose our schools. We would love to see a little holy rivalry between some of our sections in raising money.

4. We urge our churches to further lend their pastors to aid in this work till we have time to canvass all the field and raise the amount needed.

Southern Baptist Program

We heartily approve the campaign put on by the Southern Baptist Convention but feel that our first task is to finish our present campaign.

Public Schools

We heartily endorse the sentiment expressed by the report calling upon our people to support the effort made through the public schools to relieve the alarming condition of illiteracy in our State and because of the deplorable widespread illiteracy among us, and its baneful effects upon our people, we would heartily approve of a compulsory educational law passed by the present Legislature, now sitting in this city, so worded that it cannot be evaded.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. P. WHITE,
J. D. CHAPMAN,
C. K. HENDERSON,
H. J. SNYDER.

REPORT OF FURMAN UNIVERSITY

To The Trustees of Furman University.

Gentlemen: I beg to submit the following semi-annual report:

On June 24, 1918, at a joint meeting of the faculty and representatives of the Executive Committee of the Trustees, I was asked to take charge of the general correspondence and direction of the college office in my capacity as chairman of the Faculty. On July 15, 1918, at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trustees I was elected Acting President.

The summer was a busy one. A multitude of things required immediate attention. These may be grouped under five heads:

1. Advertising.
2. Canvass for students.
3. Visiting the Associations.
4. Changes in the Faculty.
5. Arrangements for the S. A. T. C.

1. Advertising

A few contracts for advertising had already been made by Dr. Poteat. It seemed wise to advertise more liberally than in previous years, and we took considerable space in The State, The Greenville News, The Daily Piedmont, and The Baptist Courier, besides special advertisements in other places. An effort was made to see just what results would come from each advertisement. This was not always possible, but we came to the conclusion that we were getting response from practically all of our advertising mediums inside the State, especially those having large circulations. The value of systematic advertising is unquestionable.

2. Canvass For Students

This work for several years has been done largely by the members of the faculty, each having a designated territory to cover. In many respects this is an admirable plan. It promotes acquaintance between the faculty and our constituency, and in particular increases the effectiveness due to personal knowledge of a student's home and surroundings on the part of his teachers. However, it has defects. In the first place, it must be admitted that some men are much better adapted for this kind of work than others. Occasionally a most excellent teacher is totally unfitted for canvassing, and such work is a burden to him. Another defect is the lack of any definite time for doing the work. Some prefer the period immediately after the close of the college year, while others prefer later periods. The original conception, when this plan was inaugurated, was that each professor should during the year look after the territory assigned to him and also the correspondence with prospective students in that territory. It has been not possible to carry out this plan in practice.

The task of keeping in touch with prospective students and their parents is a large one. If performed properly, it would require much of the time of one energetic person. During the academic year the correspondence demands a good deal of attention, while in the summer there are many personal interviews to be held, which in many cases are the deciding factors as to where a student will go to college. One man, if he has gifts for this kind of work, can undoubtedly perform it with greater satisfaction and with better results than when it is divided among several of greatly varying adaptability.

There is not implied here a plea for the release of the members of the Faculty from their obligation to the University during the vacation period. I think they recognize their obligation to build up the institution as well as to perform the work of teaching during the session. I believe the summer vacation period should not be looked forward to as a time for complete cessation of academic effort. A teacher who would avoid ruts, and lack of progressiveness in his department must have the opportunity and the inclination to broaden his outlook and experience. One of the best means to accomplish this is afforded by the various courses for summer work along many lines offered at leading universities. If a professor feels that he is expected to devote the larger part of his vacation, at least once in every two or three years, to improving himself in his department and in general culture, thereby contributing directly to the quality of his teaching and the upbuilding of the institution, not many years will pass by before the good effect becomes manifest. Of course this plan anticipates the time when adequate salaries are paid the professors that will enable them to take special work in the summer.

3. Visiting Associations

Closely connected with the canvass for students is attendance upon the associations. This year many of those that met in the months of July and August were assigned to different professors who attended them and usually made addresses. At several, Furman was represented by two or three members of the faculty. In the fall, the influenza epidemic and the numerous demands made by the military establishment interfered much with this work. Incidentally it should be kept in mind that it is not practicable for the professors to leave their classes very often to attend these meetings. Almost invariably the class work suffers, and what is gained in one way is perhaps more than lost in another. Yet nobody will question the importance of the institution's having a representative at as many of the associations as possible.

4. Changes in the Faculty

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trustees, Professor Harvey Toliver Cook, for thirty-seven years an active member of the faculty, was made Professor Emeritus, the Chair of Greek thus becoming vacant. It was strongly felt that the work in Greek should be combined with that in Latin. Rev. Robert G. Lee, a well known young Furman man, who had previously been elected to the Chair of Latin, for which he had made some special preparation, was not in a position to take also work in Greek. He tendered his resignation, and so made possible the combination of Latin and Greek under one head. Dr. John Scott Murray, a distinguished alumnus of Furman, who had taught for twenty-six years at Mercer University, was elected to the joint chair. We consider ourselves fortunate in securing Dr. Murray's services. He spent one year in post graduate study at Johns Hopkins University, and five years in attendance at the German universities of Goettingen and Berlin. He is a scholar and teacher of wide repute. He has a delightful personality and makes an unusually valuable addition to the Faculty.

At the same meeting of the Committee, Acting Professor George A. Buist was promoted to the full professorship of Chemistry and Biology. He holds a degree from Furman, and for some years had served very acceptably under the title of Acting Professor.

5. Arrangements For the Students Army Training Corps

In view of the enlarged military program to raise ninety-eight new divisions by June 30, 1919, the Government formulated a plan for the utilization of college students as material for officers in the United States Army. This plan had two distinct phases. The first was to allow each institution of collegiate grade to send to Plattsburg Barracks, New York, for a period of intensive training, one representative for each ten students enrolled last year. This gave Furman a delegation of twenty-one. In addition, one member of the Faculty, Associate Professor W. B. Bible, was included. Under this phase of the plan, the twenty-one men were to be returned to the college to be assistants to the member of the Faculty in organizing and training the student body for military purposes.

At a conference in Plattsburg, held September 3rd and 4th, which I attended and which was composed of about 250 college and university executives and certain representatives of the War Department, radical changes in the plan were announced. Instead of our own boys being sent back to us, nine of the twenty-one were commissioned as second lieutenants and sent to other institutions to have charge of military training.

As Commanding Officer at Furman, under the revised plan, First Lieutenant Emil Breitenfeld, of New York, was detailed, with Second Lieutenants Joseph H. Frates, of Massachusetts; Hamlin G. Forsythe, of Washington City, and James M. Neil, of Georgia, as assistants. 160 students were inducted into the S. A. T. C. unit. The formal inauguration was suitably celebrated on October 1st by interesting exercises on the Campus, including the oath of allegiance to the flag. We were just on the eve of entering upon the work of the fall term when the influenza broke out. On October 2nd, it was deemed wise to suspend all academic exercises. The period of enforced inactivity lasted till October 23rd. Some sixty or seventy cases were cared for. Happily none proved to be fatal. The military organization rendered great service in taking care of the situation and in waiting on the sick. Special mention should be made of Miss Annie I. Long, matron at Montague Hall, who did not spare herself in her motherly attentions to the afflicted boys. By order of the Commanding Officer, the S. A. T. C. men were instructed to report for academic duties on October 23rd, after a loss of three weeks time. The formal quarantine of the state health authorities was lifted November 3rd, and classes for the non-S. A. T. C. students were begun on November 4th.

By contract, the Government virtually took over the whole institution. It was necessary to change our curriculum materially to meet the desire of the War Department for the intensive training of the students. In view of the great demand for French, six classes had to be formed. Three of these were taught by the Acting President, and three by Dr. Murray. This arrangement necessitated the relief of Dr. Murray of two classes in Greek, which were taken charge of by Professor Cook. All the departments were on a war work basis and made adjustments accordingly.

The men inducted into the S. A. T. C. thereby became soldiers of the United States. These received housing, subsistence, uniforms, tuition, and $30.00 per month from the Government. About fifteen non-S. A. T. C. men took the training at their own expense.

In addition to the military group, there were about sixty-five non-S. A. T. C. men in the student body. This necessitated a dual arrangement of the curriculum; that is, one set of classes for the S. A. T. C. men and another set for the non-S. A. T. C. men,

Religious Activities

Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of the Home Mission Board, who was conducting a meeting with the Central Baptist church of Greenville, was secured for a short series of excellent chapel addresses. All the active members of the Faculty take their turn in conducting the chapel exercises, and thus come in contact with the whole body of students. The War Work Council assigned Mr. Auburn Setzer as Y. M. C. A. secretary for all of his time at Furman in connection with the S. A. T. C. Comfortable quarters for the Y. M. C. A. were fitted up in the Alumni Hall and the men seemed to make good use of them. It appears likely that this work will be continued for at least a part of the remainder of the year. Perhaps should be included here a reference to the expansion of the college courses in the Bible. The time devoted to that subject has been increased from three hours per week to seven, which does not include the class in Christian Ethics.

Ministerial Students

The number of ministerial students enrolled during the fall term was sixteen. This is far below normal, but it promises to be considerably increased next term. This condition is not peculiar to Furman. There has been almost everywhere a falling off in the number of candidates for the ministry.

The Education Campaign

The members of the Faculty responded liberally in the Education Campaign. The aggregate amount of their subscriptions was over $5,000.00. Several of them have also taken an active part in presenting this cause to the churches.

McCullough Library

Special mention should be made of the loan by Judge Joseph A. McCullough of his almost unsurpassed private library to Furman University. The collection embraces about three thousand well chosen volumes. Many of them are rare and unique, and a large number are in fine bindings. Judge McCullough was for many years a leading member of the Greenville bar, but he is now a resident of Baltimore. It would perhaps not be inappropriate for the Board to pass a resolution of thanks.

Mention should also be made of the gift by Mrs. Charles F. Hard of some 185 volumes formerly belonging to the Whilden Library. These, too, represent a valuable accession.

Repairs on Buildings

During the summer various repairs were made on buildings. The Administrative Building was calcimined and painted on the interior. This structure has been long in service and in many places shows the resultant wear. The time is not far distant when several thousand dollars should be spent upon it. Additional space is rapidly becoming necessary for the overflow of books in our Library and it is thought that the portion of the Administration Building formerly used by the Fitting School can be adapted to this purpose. Montague Hall and the other dormitories were also freshened up and made more attractive.

Demobilization of The S. A. T. C.

Not long after the signing of the armistice, the Government issued orders to demobilize the S. A. T. C. The unit at Furman was mustered out December 6th and 7th. A large proportion of the members returned to their homes, some for lack of funds, others in order to make arrangements to return after the holidays, and still others because of lack of desire to continue in college. This produced more or less confusion and the Faculty, after considering the matter from every angle, decided it was best to close the institution on December 10th, and resume academic work on January 3, 1919. According to our regular college calendar, the holiday recess was to be from December 20th to January 3rd, so that only about ten days of work time were lost, and it is questionable whether much would have been accomplished in this period.

Taken all in all, it is perhaps hardly fair to pass final judgment on the S. A. T. C. The experiment was accompanied by so many interruptions and the time was so short that the actual results were bound to be unsatisfactory. The weak point in the system as applied, however, was the dual control, military and academic. In the last analysis, the real control was military. Another weak feature was the elimination of the indispensable time-element in training young men just entering college. Intensive training can be accomplished when men are mature and have habits of concentration, but with boys who are just entering college for the first time and who have not formed thinking habits, it is a very different proposition. Of course this experiment along that line was due solely to the overpowering stress of war needs.

It is our purpose, so far as possible, to revert to our regular curriculum and manner of life with the term beginning January 3rd.

urriculum and manner of life with the term beginning Janu-

Military Feature Suggested

From the physical point of view, there is no doubt as to the value of military training for students, when it is done under proper supervision. This form of exercise benefits every student who is physically able to take it. The stalwart young soldiers being mustered out every where offer abundant testimony to that fact. A properly adjusted military scheme of organization for a student body also helps materially to solve many problems of discipline. I believe this matter should be carefully considered by the Board, and, if found advisable, some suitable plan should be worked out and authorized to begin with the session of 1919-20. It seems to me that the only real difficulty would be to find the right man to put in charge of the military feature.

Other Suggestions

1. As already indicated, the work in the Bible has been considerably expanded in spite of war conditions. The importance of this work is obvious. The feeling is strong in the Faculty that the Bible courses should be made of equal rank with the other studies and similar credit given for them. It is suggested that this department be further developed and put in charge of one man as a regular professor.

2. By the retirement of Dr. Poteat, Assistant Professor Bowen, and Professor Cook, we have for full work on our teaching force two less than last year. This means that provision should be made for at least two additional teachers next year; one full professor and one assistant professor, who could take the over-plus of work in two or three departments.

Respectfully submitted,

S. E. BRADSHAW, Acting President.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, GREENVILLE WOMANS COLLEGE, JUNE 3, 1918

(And herewith submitted in printed form to the Baptist State Convention convening in Columbia, S. C., January 13, 1919, with a supplementary statement for session 1918-1919)

GENTLEMEN OF THE BOARD:

In presenting my fourteenth semi-annual report to your body, there is just cause for gratitude for the blessings that have come to the College during these strenuous war times. Not unmindful of the many problems which demanded attention from start to finish of the session, and of the stress and strain on nerve and brain for all concerned, during these unusually strenuous times, it is simply true to the facts to say that the College has enjoyed the same steady and unhalting progress that has marked her course through a period of years.

The enrollment this year is not only the largest in the history of the College, but shows the greatest increase in any one year since the College began. Indeed, it is the largest increase that was made in any five years up to 1905 with the exception of one period. It is thought at our offices that enough students were turned away last fall on account of lack of space, to have filled another dormitory as large as any we have now. Owing to the fact that we have a contract with a strong coal company and laid in much of the coal in advance, the College lost only three or four days during the winter, and that only as a precautionary measure. The lost time was fully made up.

The enrollment and the quality of work done by the students, and the solution of new and difficult problems conspire to make this the most notably successful year in the history of the College. Notwithstanding the increased cost of everything that we must have at the College, the institution is meeting all the financial obligations for current expenses, with a neat balance in our favor at the bank.

Permit me to call your attention now in detail to a few important facts in connection with the administration of the College during the present session.

I. Health

The general health of the College has been good. But we were troubled with a number of light cases of mumps and measles. These light epidemics were so managed that the work of the students was not interrupted, and no students were lost to the College by reason of this kind of sickness. It is proper to state in passing that the next building which we erect must furnish a commodious, modern infirmary so that contagious diseases can be segregated from the student body. This arrangement will contribute both to good work, and to exemption from sickness.

II. Education

The work of education at the College has moved forward in a gratifying way amid chances and temptations of interruption. With us, eternal vigilance has been the price of good education this session. But taken all in all, I think it is true to say that we have gotten as good results as have been reached any other session.

I wish to call attention to the fact that after long and careful thought on the subject that we are now introducing at the College a degree Bachelor of Science. This degree is to be of equal educational value with that of Bachelor of Arts, but pursuing scientific lines and embracing largely scientific work. I shall be glad to furnish other information if desired as to the nature and meaning of this degree.

III. New Conditions at the College

The entrance of our country into the war, carrying off young men that were intimately connected with the families of the students has added much to the excitement and nervous strain at the College. The location of a military camp in Greenville, as every one knew would be the case, introduced large and complex problems in the administration of the College. However, I think I can say that the new adjustments of the College to camp life, and the metropolitan conditions around Greenville are now practically established in a satisfactory way.

When I realized the new conditions under which we must labor, I at once eliminated all engagements taking me away from the College, and addressed myself, with the greatest possible concentration, to the solution of our problems. There were new problems involving both students and faculty. As would be readily seen, those connected with the younger members of the faculty were more acute than those related to the student body. Every college, being a community in itself, has some difficulty in relating itself to the village or city-community in which it lives. Our College enjoys the genuine and practical sympathy and interest of the people of Greenville. No college known to me surpasses ours in this respect. But sixty-five years were available for achieving this excellent result, while for the relating of the College, already a large institution, to another city as large as Greenville, composed wholly of the kind of people that like the students at the College, and in whom the students themselves are interested, beguiled by the lure of the uniform, had less than sixty-five days for the accomplishment of this difficult task. After thought and deliberation, I now measure my words as I say that I believe that the task of adjustment of the new life of Greenville City, the camp and the College has been accomplished.

Supplementary Remarks to the Above Report on January 11, 1919, by the President of the College

1. The session of 1918-1919 thus far has been marked by the presence of new problems and new conditions in the progress of college work on account of the influenza. The care of the sick at the College called for ceaseless vigilance and the exercise of the greatest wisdom. The public mind was as much exercised over this dire epidemic as it was over the conditions presented by the world war. It is easy to understand the state of parental solicitude for children away from home, who were the victims of this new, dread disease. When the number of patients exceeded the accommodations of our infirmary it seemed wise to the President of the College, College Physician, and to the Local Board to close the College temporarily. We suspended for a period of four weeks. I quote here with reference to the conditions caused by the sickness at the College a paragraph from my report submitted to the Board of Trustees at its present sitting.

"There are a few facts with reference to the epidemic among our students to which I wish to call attention. We did not have a case of pneumonia at the College. All the cases were light, with possibly two or three exceptions. Only one student was lost from the student body by reason of sickness and this was in the case of a very fragile girl, who had complications and whom we nursed back to strength before she went home. The President of the College wishes to place on record his profound sense of appreciation of the confidence and consideration of the entire body of parents and patrons during the siege of illness at the College. Nothing that has come in his professional life has touched him more with a sense of gratitude and appreciation than these beautiful expressions of confidence and considerate thoughtfulness. I wish to say in this connection that the College has already made up a portion of the time lost by the cessation of work during the month of October, and definite plans are well laid to make up all lost time and give a complete session's work of good education. Practically all of the students have returned and we have seven new boarding students, so that again the College is full to its utmost capacity. Also, in this connection I wish to refer to the reasonableness of all patrons in meeting the expenses of their daughters. Notwithstanding the lost time on account of sickness, not one patron has asked for any discount on his bill."

2. This opportunity is embraced to call attention formally to the raising of the education standard at the College. This process has gone steadily forward for a number of years, but this year the longest strides have been taken toward placing the College among the best institutions of the South that have been made at any given time. Attention is called to three definite steps:

(a) Examination at the College is required for all students asking for advanced standing.

(b) All diplomas formerly granted are discontinued except those representing the standard degrees. We issue no diplomas now at the College which do not entitle our graduates to a life license to teach in the schools of South Carolina without examination.

(c) This led to the introduction of the new degree of Bachelor of Science. This degree possesses the same educational value as the Bachelor of Arts, with the difference of being approached on the practical and scientific side rather than on the side of languages. Also, instead of the former diploma in the Fine Arts Department, the degree Bachelor of Music is now given, with the same requirements as are demanded by the best women's colleges of the country for this degree.

3. The total enrollment up to the present time of this session ('18-'19) is 496. Of this number 233 are boarders and 266 day students. The total number of boarding students at this time is twenty-two more than the total number for the entire session last year and our total enrollment of boarding and day students is only thirty-nine less than the enrollment for the entire session last year.

4. Of course, it is too soon to know anything definite of the financial showing for the session 1918-'19. The Income Record shows the books to be worth about $37,000 for first half session. This is a considerably larger amount than the books have exhibited formerly at this time of the year. But the cost of living, as every one knows, will be larger this session than in former years. It is proper also to call attention to the fact that as the institution moves farther away from the time of the installing of the new equipment the expenses for upkeep and purchase of new equipment grow larger each session. This condition obtains particularly with reference to all machinery at the College. Cash collections, up to the present, amount to $36,000.00 for first half session. The friends of the College must bear in mind that the item of interest, amounting to $8,505.00 annually, on the bonded indebtedness of the College, comes out of college fees and is an unspeakably great burden to the institution, handicapping our development in many ways. In this connection, the President of the College and the Board of Trustees wish to express their most sanguine hope that the present financial campaign, which is being carried forward by the Education Board, may prove a complete success. As they look into the future and view the problems and the pressing new demands, the success of this great enterprise seems to be an imperative necessity.

5. The President of the College wishes to lay renewed emphasis on the importance of Christian Education for our students in the midst of all the strange, new problems which are now confronting us. A denominational college can justify its existence only by being Christian to the very core. Its teachers must be men and women not only of high and unblemished character, but their lives must be buttressed on the deep, essential principles of the Christian religion. Also, the very atmosphere of such a college, not only in class room and in chapel, but in all the social relations and activities of the institution must bespeak the salient principles of the Christian college. It is the custom of the College to have from time to time a series of lectures delivered to the student body on the fundamental principles and work of our church in particular and of religious work in general. Also, when opportunity offers we have a series of evangelistic services. The last meeting of this kind held at the College possessed more of the best points of a genuine revival than any I have ever witnessed. The preaching was done by Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of Atlanta, Ga. During the session, the following subjects, or their equivalents, are covered in the Christian Culture Courses, the entire student body meeting for an hour each week: The New Convention Manual (Leavell, Burroughs); Winning to Christ (Burroughs); Student Standards of Action (Cutler); Jesus, the Man of Galilee (Stack); Christianizing Community Life (Edwards); The Social Principles of Jesus (Rauschenbush). A very strong and complete course of Bible Study is given at the College, covering the entire Old and New Testament, viz., Bible A—Old Testament; Bible B—Life and Times of Jesus Christ; Bible C—Epistles of Paul and other New Testament Writers. These classes are taught by the President of the College, enrollment last session being 171. Two of the three courses are required for degrees B. S., B. A., and M. A. The Y. W. A. and Y. W. C. A. are strong organizations which enroll in their membership practically all of the boarding students. At twelve-thirty each day the College in all of its departments recedes from work for worship in the chapel for half an hour. Services are conducted by the President of the College or invited speakers. In addition to the above named work, the President is trying to arrange his own duties so as to put into the curriculum a course of Ethics which he himself will teach.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF ANDERSON COLLEGE TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, 1918

The Board of Trustees of Anderson College has pleasure in presenting a formal report for the year 1917-18, exhibiting receipts and disbursements, with assets and liabilities, of Anderson College. We beg leave also to include a statement referring to the encouraging success of the College for the first semester of the session of 1918-19.

We are very happy that we can say to your Board that Anderson College is steadily and surely fulfilling the highest hopes of those who founded it and made sacrifices for it. It has become an important center for educational uplift in South Carolina and under its present administration, has moved definitely toward the churches and the pastors of our Convention. Its curriculum includes emphatic provisions for genuine Christian education, and its atmosphere is kept charged with the ideals of Christian service. It may even be said that Anderson College has won some recognition throughout the South for positive influence on the actual incorporation of the church and Sunday school in the scheme and method of Christian education.

We may report also that Anderson College has confirmed its resolution to establish a close relation with the development of the public schools. In this direction it has gone far enough to realize that the denominational colleges may find here a field of unbounded opportunity in constructive public service. If entered on vigorously by all denominational colleges this policy would vitalize their relations to the public, assist directly in solving the problems of illiteracy and at the same time strongly counteract and finally control the secularizing tendencies of state education. The public school superintendents, county boards of education, and public school teachers in the Piedmont counties have been expressly encouraged to look upon Anderson College as a fellow servant, which is seeking out chances to cooperate with them.

We have pleasure in reporting considerable development of the plans for making Anderson College a helper for aspiring, but forgotten, girls who strongly desiring to continue their education beyond the high schools, confront discouragement and despair through their inability to pay the rates for board and tuition necessary to maintain the colleges which have no endowment. Anderson College has gathered from pastors and teachers a large list of such bright and deserving young women, and has succeeded in making arrangements through scholarships to put Anderson College within the reach of more than sixty young ladies, who without assistance would not be in college. It has demonstrated that for concrete cases of deserving need, there is no great difficulty in finding a church, or Sunday school class, or missionary society, or a noble minded individual to provide funds sufficient to secure these opportunities. In order that the Board of Education may be impressed by this experience, we submit herewith a statement of the scholarships which we have been enabled to provide. We call attention to the important fact that what Anderson College is giving in this way is equivalent to income on an endowment of more than $100,000. Money thus secured through the annual contribution of churches or individuals creates a bond of vital interest and sympathy, which a colllege needs as much as it needs money. There is no reason why an average South Carolina Baptist church should not include in its annual budget a contribution to assist some deserving girl of its own or a sister community to obtain this great boon of education. The heart throb of the Christianity of Christian education would be very much stronger if our colleges were linked on to the churches in this way. The students in Anderson College who receive these scholarships stand at the front of the college life absolutely according to their personal merit.

We gratefully report the unbroken spirit of co-operation between the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the officers of administration, the faculty, and the student body of the College. The enrollment of boarding students for the year 1917-18, though surpassed by the enrollment of the current session, was well beyond all former records. We are particularly grateful to say that the health record of Anderson College has been remarkable. The student body passed through the meningitis epidemic and the recent epidemic of influenza without the intermission of a day in the routine of the college work. The infirmary reports a large number of influenza cases, none of which were serious. The facilities of Anderson College for treating sickness are unsurpassed, in the expressed view of the health authorities and physicians.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF COKER COLLEGE TO THE SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION 1918

To the Baptist State Convention:

I herewith make my annual report to your body, which will include ten years of Coker College:

The session of 1917-1918 marked the close of the first decade in the history of Coker College. The first term began September, 1908. During this year forty-five students were enrolled in all departments. A strong faculty of ten teachers had been gathered by Dr. E. V. Baldy, the president. He had just come to South Carolina to be pastor of the Hartsville Baptist church. The course of study for the first year included two years of preparatory work and a commercial course. The first commencement sermon was preached by Rev. John L. Vines and the first commencement address was by Prof. John B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest College. Of the first Board of Trustees eleven are still members. Of the faculty only one remains.

During these ten years the preparatory and commercial departments have been abolished, and the entrance requirements raised, but the enrollment of students has increased as follows:

1908-1909	45 students
1909-1910	47 students
1910-1911	84 students
1911-1912	129 students
1912-1913	158 students
1913-1914	203 students
1914-1915	223 students
1915-1916	231 students
1916-1917	250 students

1917-1918 ..... 304 students
Present Session ..... 354 students

The institution began with the three buildings transferred by the Welsh Neck High School. Plans for enlargement were soon on foot. In 1910 the Administration Building was erected at a cost of $30,000.00; in 1912 the President's House and the Music Director's House were completed; in 1914 the Memorial Hall Dormitory was erected at a cost of $65,215.30; in 1916 Central Hall and the Natatorium were erected and equipped at a cost of $196,627.32.

No library building has yet been erected, though books have been purchased each year until now the library contains 5,600 volumes, not including government publications and pamphlets.

During these ten years the institution has had four presidents. Dr. E. V. Baldy, pastor of the Baptist church, organized the institution and was its president for two years. The responsibilities of both the College and the church were too great and he gave up the presidency after two years, but remained in the faculty until the end of the session 1917-18. Dr. A. J. Hall became president in 1911 and remained for three years when he resigned. In 1914 Dr. Howard Lee Jones became president, but died in 1915. Dr. E. W. Sikes came from Wake Forest College to become president in June, 1916.

During the ten years fourteen hundred students have matriculated in the College and one hundred and eighty-one have been awarded degrees.

Coker College began its life with an endowment of $14,595.82 transferred to it by the friends of the Welsh Neck High School; in 1910 Major James Lide Coker gave $150,000.00 to the endowment of the institution for which he had already done so much. In 1915 the endowment was increased by gifts of $100,000.00. In 1917 the endowment was increased by gifts which made the total endowment $371,213.82.

By the death of Major James Lide Coker on June the 25th there was lost to the College its founder and generous supporter. For twenty-five years he had been the benefactor of education at this place. Not only did he erect the Coker College buildings and give to the endowment, but he gave many other gifts in various ways.

The institution begins its second decade with three hundred and fifty-four students, with faculty and officers numbering thirty-one, with an endowment of $371,213.82, and with a plant valued at $388,044.18.

During this term there have come to join the faculty two men who are well-known in educational circles of the South—Prof.

R. W. Durrett and Prof. E. C. Schaible. Prof. Durrett is a graduate of Richmond College and Harvard University. He has had experience at Westhampton College, Richmond Woman's College, and Savannah. Prof. Schaible is a graduate of Colgate University and Newton Theological Seminary, and has had many years of experience. These two men are strong additions to the educational forces of the denomination and the State.

The present enrollment of the three hundred and fifty-four students represents forty-two counties in South Carolina, four states, and China and Brazil.

They are distributed among the denominations as follows:

Baptists	234
Methodists	62
Presbyterians	37
Episcopalians	14
Adventist	1
Lutheran	1
Jews	1
Others	4

There are twenty-nine members of the Board of Trustees nominated by nine associations.

Respectfully yours,

J. J. LAWTON, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE AGED MINISTERS' RELIEF BOARD

The Aged Ministers' Board has had a chequered history during this wonderful year of grace. The Secretary has been sick most of the year, and has been able to travel but little. Meanwhile, however, the Board has kept in touch with the pastors and churches by a copious correspondence. All the obligations of the Board to its wards have been met, amounting to nearly ten thousand dollars, and still there is a balance in the treasury. It would be untrue to say this money has been collected by correspondence; but rather let us say that now, after many years and much exhortation and newspaper work, to help this Board has become a part of the work of almost all the churches that do anything much for any of the Boards. The brethren everywhere are convinced at last that the work ought to go on; they also see that it can go on. Nothing now can interfere with its growth and success but some mistake on the part of the Board or the Convention—a mistake that would provoke the criticism of the pastors and the disfavor of the churches. For this let us thank God and be careful.

The removal of the Secretary from Columbia to Sumter compelled a change in the make-up of the Board. This matter was attended to by the State Mission Board, and we now have in Sumter the same brethren who managed the work in other years, with the addition of Pastor Thayer and Brother E. H. Rhame as auditor.

Brother Lunsford's Board in Dallas, Texas, which is really a child of the Sunday School Board, wishes us to co-operate with it. That Board as yet has nothing worth the naming, and is just taking shape. The day may come when we can co-operate with it. Right now, Virginia and South Carolina are the only two states in our Convention which are really aiding their old preachers. The other states are playing at it. Virginia and South Carolina have invested funds, a part of which are trust funds. We have no right to transfer this money to any other Board. Besides, South Carolina is raising more than ten thousand dollars annually for this work. Will Brother Lunsford's Board simply receive our money and then give back to us the same amount, or shall we receive only our share after the other states have been helped? It seems that we cannot answer the call of the Dallas Board to come down to its level; but when it comes up to our level, we may see our way to join our labors with those of others through the South. It would be folly to collect money as we are now doing, and send it to Texas to have it sent back to us. Nor have we yet enough money to say we are willing to divide with other states which are doing very little in this work. To accept Brother Lunsford's offer would disrupt all our plans and destroy our work in this State. Brother Lunsford suggests, if we understand him, that we give all our funds into his hands, including thirty-four thousand dollars of invested money, and then after this has been done, we can proceed to adjust our differences. There is something about this proposition that would not pass in the business world—why should it pass with us? We repeat, then, we must prosecute our own work, and co-operate with the Dallas Board whenever we see the way is open, and wisdom suggests such a course.

We have aided seventy wards during the year. This is about as many as are being aided throughout half the whole South, Virginia excepted, as far as can be found out from any printed reports. We recommend to the other states the prominence given to the work in South Carolina.

The invested fund now amounts to something more than thirty-four thousand dollars, and we are glad to be able to repeat the statement made hitherto that we have never lost a dollar of it by unwise investment or by taking unsafe risk in lending it. Recent conditions over which we had no control have cut down the gifts of the churches to the Board. Possibly these deficiencies will be made up in a larger gift at Christmas.

The Apportionment Committee have allowed us to apportion fifteen thousand dollars among the churches as the goal to be attained next year. If faithful work and constant begging will avail anything, this amount will be raised. Let the brethren keep us in mind, and remember their own fast approaching age and time of need.

B. WALSH, Chairman.

REPORT ON REPORT OF AGED MINISTERS' BOARD

The Committee to whom was submitted the report of Aged Ministers Board reports as follows:

We desire to express our sympathy for the Secretary of the Board in his recent illness and to express the hope for an early recovery. We desire, also, to record our appreciation of his long and unselfish service in the interest of this Board.

We find from the report that all the apportionments of the Board have been met and that there is a balance in the treasury of $3,393.00.

We believe there ought to be the heartiest co-operation between this Board and the Aged Ministers Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. We believe the time will come when these two boards should be merged but we do not believe that time has yet arrived.

We deem the allusion to the Board of the Southern Baptist Convention as "The Lunsford Board" unfortunate.

We find that seventy wards have been aided by the Board the past year but that amounts given each have been lamentably small.

The apportionment for the year 1919 is $15,000. We call upon all our churches to go "over the top" this year.

The invested fund now amounts to more than $34,000, the interest of which supplements the amount contributed by the churches.

H. C. HESTER,

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION

With abounding gratitude to the heavenly Father, the Board of Ministerial Education submits its report for the year 1917-1918.

While the total gifts for the year, $7,213.76, are less by several hundred dollars than the amount last year, they were sufficient to enable the Board to meet all obligations for the year, and for the first time in more than a decade, to report a neat balance in the treasury. Had it not been for the influenza epidemic prevalent throughout the State it is believed that more than the amount apportioned would have been contributed.

Especial attention is invited to the small number of students aided by the Board this year as compared with previous years, the total number assisted being only eleven; the total amount appropriated for the use of these students being $1,250. We all recognize the fact that this great reduction in the number of ministerial students is due very largely, if not altogether, to the large number of young men being called into the service of our country. The question in the mind of the Board is To what extent will camp life affect the ambitions and aspirations of those students who had dedicated their lives to the ministry, and whose courses of study were interrupted? Now that the war is over we are confronted with the greatest task ever given a people; and the ministry must necessarily assume its part of this task. The question naturally arises, Have we a sufficient number of ministers to perform our part of this task? If our supply of ministers is inadequate, whence are we to recruit our ranks? This question should be given serious thought and consideration, and should cause the parents of sons to ponder seriously the question of the life work of their sons. There is no nobler calling than the ministry, and it is our duty as a denomination to impress the need of workers in the Master's vineyard upon the youth of our land, by suggestion, by personal work, by prayer. "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest."

The Board takes pleasure in reporting the beginning of an Endowment Fund, the amount invested in this fund being $150.00. As stated in the last report of the Board it is the purpose to create an Endowment Fund, the goal being $50,000. The income from this fund will be used to supplement the receipts from the churches, and will provide against that day when there will be a larger number of students, and when the work of the Board can be enlarged. It is recommended that churches and individuals give this matter thought, and that it be presented to men of wealth with a view to obtaining large gifts for this purpose.

The Loan Fund has not grown during the year. On account of the numerous demands for money this matter was not pressed. Now that the war is over, and a number of the causes that have called for large giving no longer need help, it is hoped that the attention of our people will be turned to this fund. The minimum amount as set by the Board is $5,000, $1,000 of which has already been pledged on condition that the remaining $4,000 is pledged in amounts of not less than $500 each. This is a splendid opportunity for a number of churches in the State to establish memorials—memorials that will perpetually render service to the kingdom of God. It is suggested that the pastors bear this Loan Fund in mind, and when an opportunity offers present it to their people.

In the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary sixteen South Carolina men are being aided to an amount estimated at $1,676. It is possible that other South Carolina students will be enrolled during the session. It is a great pleasure to report that the full amount of our apportionment for the Students' Fund, namely, $1,500, was paid. The instructions of the Convention were to pay twenty per cent. of the total amount collected, less expense, but in view of the fact that the Board had a balance on hand it was deemed expedient to pay the full amount asked for.

Attention is again called to the fact that a number of associations in the State do not have a standing committee to report on the work of the Board of Ministerial Education. The absence of a full time secretary for this cause is believed to be largely responsible for this condition. It is not believed that those associations that do not have standing committees mean to purposely neglect this work, or to make it subordinate to the other boards of the Convention. It is earnestly requested that those associations that are neglecting this cause be requested to see that committees are appointed at their next meetings.

In several instances churches have increased their apportionments to this cause. As previously called to the attention of the Convention, in most cases the individual apportionment for Ministerial Education is woefully small, and for this reason is very frequently overlooked altogether. Our pastors are urged to ascertain the amount asked of their churches for this cause, and where the amount can easily be increased, it is urged that this be done.

In view of the fact that it may be necessary to borrow funds at various times throughout the year in order to carry on the work of the Board, it is requested that the Convention authorize the Board to borrow such funds as in its wisdom are necessary for the conduct of its business for the year 1918-1919.

The influenza epidemic interfered very seriously with the observance of Ministerial Education Day in the Sunday Schools, designated for the third Sunday in November. In some sections this day was used for special collections for other causes, and this Board thereby suffered. It is requested that the third Sunday in November, 1919, be designated as Ministerial Education Day in the Sunday Schools, and that full co-operation of the Sunday schools throughout the State be urged.

In closing this report it is desired to express appreciation and gratitude to the brethren throughout the State, especially those who assumed the responsibility for this cause in their respective associations, for hearty and continued co-operation. To the Baptist Courier is extended gratitude for its unceasing and helpful co-operation.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

S. T. MATTHEWS, President.
J. C. KEYS, Secretary.

REPORT ON REPORT OF BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION

Your Committee to whom was referred the report of the Board of Ministerial Education beg leave to report that the report of the Board of Ministerial Education has not come into the hands of your Committee, no report having been submitted to the Convention on account of the sickness of J. C. Keys, the Secretary and Treasurer. For this reason your Committee is unable to present a report on this report. We hope that the report will be prepared and published in the minutes of the Convention.

We regard the work of this Board second in importance to that of no other board. From what we have seen, from published statements from time to time in The Courier, we are satisfied that the work of the Board is vigorously prosecuted.

We hope that pastors will see that this Board's interests are kept before this churches, and that they will give it their most cordial and sympathetic support.

FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST HOSPITAL

With a profound sense of Divine goodness, we file our fifth annual report. With all the world we rejoice in the return of peace, and indulge the hope that war has ended for all time.

The year has been filled with opportunities for service which have been met by those of the Hospital with unfaltering devotion to God and humanity. We face the future with a confident faith and hope for increasing usefulness.

The report of the Superintendent which is attached hereto exhibits the facts of the Hospital's life which are susceptible of tabulation. We desire merely to refer to acts of the Board itself.

In May, at the semi-annual meeting of the Board, announcement was made of the death of Brother Charles A. Danner, of Beaufort, a member of the Board. We deplore his passing. He had exhibited keen interest in the Hospital, and his counsel at Board meetings was valuable. The Board elected Brother W. R. Eve, likewise of Beaufort, to serve in Brother Danner's place till the meeting of this Convention.

Reference was made in our last report to the Koon property on Taylor street, which had been leased and was being used for hospital purposes. During the year that property has been bought. We likewise purchased the Knowlton residence, at the corner of Hampton and Marion streets, which gives us possession of the entire block on Marion from Hampton to Taylor.

The Board has arranged a plan of issuing Annuity Bonds, whereby a person may give the Hospital a sum of money and receive interest on it during the giver's lifetime. Rates of interest vary from five per cent. to a person 40 years old, to nine per cent. to a person eighty or more.

There has been a considerable payment on the debt of the plant during the year, as reference to the Treasurer's report will show. While the aggregate indebtedness of the Hospital has been increased during the year by reason of the realty purchase, more than $14,000 has been paid on the debt in a year. We have every reason to believe the Hospital will maintain this ratio of payment, and in a few years the splendid property we hold in trust for the Convention will be fully paid for.

The great demands of the Government for men and materials have been felt by the Board as well as the Hospital. Two of our members are in the Service—Brother Andrew J. Bethea, president of the Board, being an officer in the army, and Brother Will Evans being engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, "somewhere in France." We miss the presence and counsels of these brethren, but rejoice in that their splendid capabilities have been given the nation in this titanic struggle for the liberties of the world.

We feel a pardonable pride in the year's work. We beg to summarize briefly certain outstanding features of results attained: On operating expenses we owe for nothing whose purchase ante-dates November 1st; and accounts receivable which are regarded as good aggregate considerably more than our accounts payable, including a small balance of borrowed money. We have paid $14,471.45 on the purchase price of the property; made additions and improvements to the buildings of $6,845.69; installed new equipment and a new heating plant at a cost of $4,261.45; have $735 worth of Liberty Bonds and War Stamps; unearned insurance premiums in excess of $1,600; have on hand groceries in excess of $3,000 value; drugs and supplies worth more than $3,500; new, unused linen which cost more than $1,500; coal which cost over $1,200; printed forms which cost more than $800; all of which is paid for. These items show a net increase in our assets of more than $37,000 for the year.

We feel that the future of the Hospital is assured, its place in the hearts of the brotherhood is secure; and we make this report with a deep sense of gladness and rejoicing.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. H. EDWARDS,
President Pro Tem.

JESSE T. REESE,
Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST HOSPITAL

In making a report for the fifth year of the Hospital, it is desired first of all to express a profound sense of gratitude to God for the mercies and blessings which have fallen upon us during the year. Never before has the manifest approval of our Lord been so conspicuous. It was a matter of common remark that during the influenza epidemic, while so many persons were stricken, not a member of our executive force lost a day from illness; and, though more than half the nurses were ill, some of them very seriously, there was no death among them. The growth of the Hospital in popularity, and the evident increasing favor with which it is esteemed by the churches, are evidences, also, of Divine approval. The charity contributions exceeded the apportionment by about thirty per cent. This was the first year we had an apportionment, and we are emboldened to expect greater gifts next year.

The Year's Work

While cold figures rarely convey a vivid idea, it may be well to set forth the mechanical facts of the Hospital's work. During the year we admitted 2,606 patients, 1,124 of them being male, and 1,482 female; 1,452 surgical, and 1,154 medical. There were 43 births and 69 deaths. Of the latter, 31 occurred during the month of October alone, the epidemic month, and the remainder were distributed among the other eleven months of the year.

The patients belonged to religious denominations as follows: 909 Baptists, 529 Methodists, 215 Lutherans, 172 Presbyterians, 87 Episcopalians, 38 Roman Catholics, 37 Jews, 23 Associate Reformed Presbyterians, nine Christians, three Church of Christ, two Greek Orthodox, two Mormons, one Salvation Army, one Universalist, one Unitarian, one Holiness, one Seventh Day Adventist; and 575 who gave no denomination at all. There were 326 children under ten years of age included in this last figure. Thus it will be seen that while the Hospital is "Baptist in its burdens and responsibilities," it is indeed "non-denominational in its benefits and blessings."

Free Work

Two hundred and thirty patients have been given absolutely free service, comprising 2,612 days, at a cost of $7,530.65. One hundred and eighty-four others have been cared for without cost to themselves, though the Hospital received compensation, in whole or in part, from one source or another. These patients were given 2,018 days service at a cost of $5,258.20. Thus the Hospital was the channel through which 414 persons received free service amounting to 4,630 days of value of $12,788.85; or considerably more than $1,000 per month. Besides these, there was an an unnumbered class who were given discounts from regular rates upon requests from their churches or pastors. To these figures should be added the services of physicians and surgeons for which no charge was made, an amount equal to that given, or more.

A Growing Charity

Year by year this work grows in the estimate of the churches. The apportionment for the year was $6,000, whereas the contributions amounted to $8,284.21. A comparison with other years indicates the increase. In 1914, the charity receipts amounted to $444; in 1915 to $2,185; in 1916 to $3,895; in 1917 to $5,262, and in 1918 to $8,284.21.

Gifts of linen and pantry supplies have amounted to an estimated value of $900, which should be added to the above.

Additions and Improvements

During the year we have added to the nurses home and furnished seven bed-rooms, a sitting room and two large porches. A third bath room and a modern automatic gas hot water system were installed. These improvements have not only added to the capacity, but have made the nurses living quarters much more attractive and comfortable.

Improvements in the Hospital have been made also. New diet kitchens have been added to the North and South buildings, and other improvements have involved the offices, linen room, examination room, surgical dressing and cystoscopic room. A delivery room has been fitted, used exclusively for maternity cases.

The cost of these improvements has been considerable, but they have been paid for, as appears from the treasurer's report.

Cost's Upward Tendency

Again we direct attention to the upward trend of cost of operation. Everything that enters into the maintainance of a hospital has increased tremendously, many necessary things being advanced to such prices as to become practically prohibitive. Moreover, the Government requirements for army and navy hospitals has caused the supply for civic hospitals to become extremely limited, which has added to our burdens. Of course, these facts render us unable to give as many days free service to charity patients for a given sum as formerly.

The return of peace may eventuate in a return to normal costs. At best, however, it will be many months, perhaps years, before the prices prevailing in pre-war times may be expected, if indeed they vere return.

Government Standardization

The Section of Medical Industry of the War Industries Board of the National Government has undertaken the task of standardizing hospitals throughout the country. This applies to equipment and supplies as well as to personnel and service. While this entails a decided hardship now, we feel its ultimate result will be beneficial in a marked degree. Therefore, we are ready to bear the inconveniences now for the hope of better things in future.

Our Service Flag

We have endeavored to comply with the requests of the Government respecting hospital co-operation. Our class-room and equipment has been used for a number of classes in first-aid; we have furnished gauze to the Red Cross several times; additional pupils have been admitted; two members of our Board, ten of our graduate nurses, one bookkeeper and five colored orderlies have entered the service, giving us 18 stars. in our service flag. Robert Pearson, a negro employee, one of the most faithful we have ever known, was called in the first draft, and was in several of the most terrific battles. At last accounts he was in a hospital in Paris, suffering from wounds and gas received in battle. One or two returned soldiers, wounded in France, have been sent to us for treatment, which service was rendered without charge.

Epidemics

The spirit and purpose of the Baptist Hospital is to serve the needy, and where there is greatest need, we desire to render the greatest service. We are not insensible to the need of protection to society as well as the need of service to the sick, and the principle upon which the Hospital was established was to render a worthy service to society as well as to individuals.

Twice during the year we have been called upon to demonstrate our ability and readiness to serve society in time of epidemic of contagion. In the epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis last February the board of health asked for help, we bore half the cost of operating an emergency hospital for those who were in need, the city government bearing the other half. In October we opened our doors to influenza patients and cared for a large number, both pay and free. Twenty-nine of our nurses were stricken with the dread disease, some of whom were desperately ill for a time. In the mercy of God, none died. Too high a tribute cannot be paid the loyalty and fidelity of the young ladies in this crisis. Never was a better spirit of heroism, nor a finer spirit of service. So many of our nurses falling sick at once, and that in the midst of the heaviest work of our experience, we were led to employ graduate nurses and outside help to care for the patients. Volunteers came to our assistance and rendered valuable aid. A pardonable pride is felt for the service rendered in this crisis, a season of sickness which in volume and number of fatalities is unparalleled in the knowledge of this generation.

Emergencies Gratis

One element of service which has become more and more conspicuous is the large number of accident and other emergency cases which we care for every year for which we receive no compensation. Because of the central location of the Hospital, it is the most convenient place to which to bring an emergency. Some of the accidents are minor, some serious, some fatal. When a child or other person is brought in injured, bleeding and suffering, attention must be rendered at once, and there is no time to discuss financial arrangements. It is amazing how many persons there are who, in such circumstances, afterwards appear utterly indifferent to their obligation to the institution which served them or their child in the time of distress and need. In some of these cases, we feel sure, we could recover costs in a court of competent jurisdiction, for the persons are well able to pay. But shall the Baptist Hospital go to law to collect its just dues?

Worthless Debts

As in former years, we have to report the loss of revenue justly due us, through the failure of patients to pay their debts. After giving them hospital service, their sense of obligation is so warped that all efforts to collect their accounts are futile. A perusal of the names on this roll of dishonor would astonish many. We have charged off our books this year worthless accounts aggregating $2,101.11, which marks a dead loss due to the dishonesty of those whom we trusted.

Our Greatest Helper

The Baptist Courier has always been a firm friend of the Hospital, and its assistance this year is gratefully acknowledged and sincerely appreciated. Its news columns have carried every story offered it, and its editorial pages frequently have been employed by the editors to set before the brotherhood our activities and needs. This publicity has been of inestimable value.

Conclusion

In closing my fourth annual report, I desire to express my profound appreciation of all the courtesies extended me by the Board. Our relations could not be more cordial, nor your support of my policies more thorough and sincere. I cherish fond recollections of our close association in the great work of Christian benevolence in which we are engaged; and I beg to indulge the hope that the Hospital may continue to prosper under your guidance and the blessings of God.

Respectfully submitted,
LOUIS J. BRISTOW, Superintendent.

REPORT ON REPORT OF BAPTIST HOSPITAL

Your Committee on the report of the Baptist Hospital submit the following:

We note with pleasure the continued prosperity of the Baptist Hospital. Operating expenses have been paid, the debt has been reduced, the plant and equipment improved, and the charity work has been greatly increased. The management under the retiring superintendent, Rev. L. J. Bristow, has been progressive and successful. Superintendent W. M. Whiteside takes charge with the confidence of his brethren and with an unusually bright outlook. We specially commend this work to our churches and suggest that the apportionment for this object for 1919 be $10,000.00.

REPORT ON REPORT OF SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST MINISTERS' MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

We your Committee to whom was referred the report of South Carolina Baptist Ministers' Mutual Benefit Association report that we note the death during 1918 of seven members: Brethren B. H. Holder, E. P. Easterling, W. L. Hayes. A. C. Wilkins, J. D. Huggins, W. H. Waters and W. T. Thompson to whose families were paid $1,111.00.

We regret to note that the last received $16.00 less than the first beneficiary of the year. We would urge upon the members to be faithful in responding to the assessments of the Treasurer, and would earnestly commend this Association to brethren of our State who are not members, and urge them to become members. The membership of this Association should at least be doubled.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE CONCERNING THE MORRIS COLLEGE FUND

The Convention at Rock Hill gave to your Committee the seemingly easy task of gathering the pledges made there to the Morris College Bible Teacher Fund, pledges of a year's standing then. Amongst the many calls for money that have come through the year most of the brethren have redeemed these pledges, and the itemized account is herewith appended. To those of us who have joined in this labor of love it is a great joy to be able to render this service to our brothers of the Negro race.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM

Your Committee on Evangelism begs leave to submit the following report:

Evangelism suggests that direct effort, on the part of a church, or an individual Christian, to bring a sinner to repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

Baptists have believed and taught through the centuries that definite spiritual action of repentance and faith is essential to salvation.

The kingdom of Christ can not be actually advanced nor his churches built up by any mere mass-movement. Only as the individual soul, recognizing its lost estate, turns from sin and exercises faith in Christ is the kingdom of God augmented and fit subjects added to the church.

Perceiving these fundamental truths, as revealed in the New Testament, our denomination has ever stood with an abiding conviction that for it, at least, evangelism is essential and vital.

We would not draw invidious distinctions between the various phases of church activity. It is not to underestimate the value of other Christian endeavor, for us to maintain that evangelism, both in its importance and its appeal, is paramount.

It is to be observed that a failure to adequately emphasize evangelism is both the cause of a distressing result and the result of an unfortunate cause.

As the cause of a distressing result, we have only to look about us to see the large number of unfruitful churches and discredited and unused ministers. No community will long sustain or respect a church in which no souls are saved. No minister, be his ability or culture what it may, will long find himself an acceptable servant of the churches, when he gives even a suggestion that his interest in the salvation of the lost is subordinate to his interest in any earthly thing.

In the very centers of the unsaved are to be found unused or half-used churches. Many are the reports coming up from our churches of a whole year's existence being unrewarded by a single conversion. Beyond all doubt the reason why the light of salvation no longer shines out from these beacons of the Lord is because on their altars the fervent zeal for the evangelization of the lost no longer glows.

Likewise, it becomes evident that a low spiritual state on the part of the church has, as its inevitable result, failure to seek and to save the lost. If it becomes evident that evangelistic fervor and effectiveness is declining, then it becomes apparent that spiritual power is waning. Our churches should view with alarm any evidence of weakening in this vital interest of seeking to save the lost because it actually discloses a condition that must ultimately invite disaster.

Your Committee would most earnestly recommend that every Baptist church within the bounds of this Convention be urged to hold at least one evangelistic meeting between now and the convening of our next Convention.

Your Committee would further recommend that all our associations be requested to appoint a Committee on Evangelism whose duty it would be to directly encourage and assist every church in each particular association to make creditable and distinct effort to hold at least one revival meeting each year.

The associational Committee on Evangelism should further be charged with the duty of studying the churches relative to this work, and making definite report and recommendations to these associations looking toward a more adequate and effective effort on the part of the churches in winning the lost.

Your Committee would further recommend that this Convention endorse the recent action of our State Mission Board in employing two consecrated men to engage in this work in our State.

Your Committee would further recommend that our State Board seek to direct the efforts of our evangelists in such way that their ministry be largely devoted to our weaker churches.

REPORT ON LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT

The chief reason for the existence of the Laymen's Missionary Movement is the fact that a consecrated layman has a special avenue of approach to another layman because of the bond that exists between them; the layman speaks in the language of the market place and gets the ear of the business man because his speech is in no sense professional. To be sure, his effort should supplement the impotrant work of the pastor and should not be intended to supplant it. This Movement seeks to utilize the men who have a vision and are interested in a systematic effort to enlist and develop those who are not interested and developed. This effort should prove of great value in arousing those men that are indifferent and inactive, should greatly encourage and strengthen the pastor, and should prove an untold blessing to the men engaged in the work.

The Movement advocates strongly loyalty to the pastor, and stands for a more adequate support of the pastor. Something must be done whereby our pastors shall receive better salaries, and this Movement will glady co-operate in the work.

The Movement from the beginning has stressed the weekly offering as a feature of worship and has been active in promoting the Every-Member Canvass in the churches once a year; the committee furnishes free of charge, three pieces of literature regarding the Every-Member Canvass. Our general secretary, Dr. J. T. Henderson, has rendered a valuable service in our State along these lines, having visited the First church, Columbia, the First church, Greenwood, also the First church, Union.

From the beginning, the Movement has stressed the Bible doctrine of stewardship and hundreds of men have been led to adopt the tenth as the minimum standard of their offerings; this has been the means of adding thousands of dollars to the treasuries of our Boards.

The Movement is engaged in an effort to secure a band of 10,000 men in the South, each of whom shall stand ready once a year about the first of May, if necessary, to put up an extra five dollars each to relieve an urgent situation with the two Boards; South Carolina's allotment is 950; this cause has been presented to only seventeen churches and two hundred members have been secured.

The State Committee is arranging for a Convention of Baptist men to be held in Greenwood March 18-19, and your Committee would urge pastors and laymen throughout the State to give this matter large publicity; Stewardship will be the leading topic at the Convention and will be discussed by some of the leading specialists in the South.

Respectfully submitted,

C. B. BOBO, Chairman.

REPORT ON WOMAN'S WORK

Your Committee would express their appreciation of the privilege accorded them in being permitted to present to the Convention a summary of the work of our women for the past year. It is a pleasure to record success—and while the history of the women's societies is a succession of chapters, each glowing with new and greater achievements—the present year stands out pre-eminent in its triumphs. And this fact is the more noteworthy and laudable, and the greater reason for rejoicing in that no year has been marked by so many and such varied hindrances. In some measure the obstacles have been insuperable, yet faith unshakable and energy untiring have brought glorious results.

A brief outline of the record is presented for your consideration. In the planning for the work of the year there was a serious handicap in that attendance upon the annual meeting of 1917 was decidedly lessened because of war conditions, and there was a measure of uneasiness lest the demands of war work might greatly interfere with the prosecution of the plans formulated. It is to be remembered that during the year repeated and urgent calls were made upon all our people for aid to the Government in both time and money, many of which appeals were especially directed to our women. And then, just at the "harvest time" when the fruitage of much of the planning and efforts of the year is to be gathered into the garner, came the terrible epidemic disorganizing and paralyzing almost all church activities. Many meetings had to be abandoned. Our women were forced to give up entirely their annual meeting this year, with the loss of its inspiration and cheer. How the situation has been met is well shown in an extract from the report of the W. M. U. President, Mrs. J. D. Chapman.

"The brave hearts of the women who have loyally given their sons and brothers and sweethearts to the struggle for world freedom, and have generously supported every patriotic effort for the welfare of the soldiers, have not failed in loyalty to the extension of Christ's kingdom. Indeed, the report shows more intense devotion than ever before."

Statistics

There have been some changes in the numbers of the organizations united in the work of the women. In some departments there is apparent loss, yet in reality the report shows gain, because the decrease is due to a pruning out of societies which had become unfruitful and a dead weight, so that the condition now is one of more actual life and vigor. Indifference and sloth are not countenanced by our women, even among the children.

The figures for the year are as follows:

Total number of Women's Societies (a net gain of five)	724
Total Young Women's Auxiliaries	222
Total Girls' Auxiliaries	105
Total Royal Ambassadors (boys)	138
Total Sunbeam Bands	487
Grand total	1,676

Again quoting the President:

"The efficiency of the work of these organizations is measured by a Standard of Excellence and we are proud that 288 reached the Honor Roll, having met the ten points required, and 197 are in class A, having failed in only one or two points."

Your Committee believe that the most helpful and important feature of the services rendered by the women's organizations is in educational and inspirational meetings and training. We especially commend them for the 600 Mission Study classes conducted, of which 132 were among the Sunbeams and twenty-eight were with the boys of the Royal Ambassadors, and for the increasing number of and interest in Bible Study classes for the young people.

The W. M. U. of our State are represented in the Training School at Louisville, Ky., by six young women fitting themselves for the Master's larger use, and two of these hold scholarships provided by the Union. Another scholarship is still open.

Finances

Financially the year's work has been wonderful, far exceeding any report ever made before. The fundamental element of success along this line is the adoption by the societies as a slogan and a principle, "Apportionments First." It is a splendid showing that thirty-three out of the thirty-six associational unions met or exceeded their total apportionments, and twenty-two of them met or exceeded the apportionment for every object. The result is that the Union in the State reports excess on every apportionment—the total of apportionments for all objects being $51,026, and the contributions to these objects $70,000. Including gifts to objects not apportioned, the total cash contributions amount to $82,187.17. This amount is $21,954.78 more than the greatest total reported in any preceding year, 1916 being the largest.

To be added to the cash gifts of $82,187.17 is the total of gifts in kind made to the Orphanage, Hospital and mountain schools which is $1,999.31, making a grand total of $84,186.48.

The marvellous growth and tremendous advance in the financial work of our women is strikingly illustrated by a simple comparison. In 1902 the total gifts of all departments of the W. M. U. was $6,789.05. In 1918 the Sunbeams alone gave $6,396.44. Thus we see how these good women are waxing mightier day by day and are building for the future.

In addition to the objects regularly supported some have entered into the year's program.

1. A beautiful example of applied Christianity is the raising of a sum sufficient to pay the salary of Miss Janie Lide for a full year, thus giving her opportunity to use her extended furlough in further study, better fitting herself for her onerous duties as principal of the Girls' Normal School in Tengchow, China.

2. Many memorials established by societies and associational unions in the Church Building Loan Fund of the Home Mission Board.

3. A memorial in this Fund to Mrs. C. E. Watson to cost $500, and for this $597.61 was paid.

4. By the Royal Ambassadors, in memory of Mrs. Watson, the furnishing of the boys' sitting room at Long Creek Academy at a cost of $100.

5. Offerings at the associational annual meetings to provide equipment of a model home at Long Creek Academy to teach home making to the girls.

6. Gifts by the Sunbeams for pews in the church at Catawba Indian reservation, and for the support of a "little white bed" in our Hospital.

7. The completion of the Lula Whilden Memorial ($750.00) which will be given to the Foreign Mission Board for investment, the interest to be used as a scholarship in the Woman's Bible Training School, Canton, China.

"Thus the story of the year is told in effort and gifts, but no account can record the growth in grace and the spiritual development of our women and young people, nor the many beautiful acts of personal service performed."

May the great work and the splendid workers of what is now an auxiliary to the Convention soon become a real, organic part of it.

W. B. OLIVER, for Committee.

REPORT ON RELIGIOUS LITERATURE

The printed page is a great force and factor for either the tearing down or the building up of the kingdom of God. It may serve the Devil and ally itself with all his hellish purposes, or it may serve God and further the cause of truth and righteousness. In the record of the Acts it is declared that at Ephesus many "that practiced magical arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all men." From that day to this there have been no lack of books fit only for fuel to feed a flame. We here class that large output of immoral literature that inflame the darker passions of men, and call into mutiny the lusts of the flesh. We also here classify those books that are even written in the name of religion, and yet carry a subtle poison that destroys the most sacred truths of God's revelation. Many of these bear the impress of our great universities. The Devil is indeed a past master in the use of the printed page.

Over against the impure and the false we have a great library of the choicest Christian literature, an agency of tremendous power in the kingdom of God. The world is rich in its legacy of noble books. The great souls of the past still live in the printed page, and with ever widening influence bless the world. This report seeks, first of all, to emphasize the contribution of Southern Baptists to Christian literature. It is manifest that there is fast forming a distinctive Southern Baptist Literature. We stand for certain clear-cut principles, and these are being imbedded in a choice literature. The growth and development of this literature is evidenced both in the character and largely increased number of books by Baptist authors. Our Southern Baptist Seminary has made a liberal and rich contribution to our Baptist library and our Sunday School Board is rendering a most valuable service in this line. In my own library, for which I only claim that it is an average library for an educated Baptist preacher, contains four full shelves of over a hundred volumes, all written by Southern Baptists within the period of my own ministry of forty years. Three-fourths of these books have been written within the past twenty years. They rank with the best both in scholarship and in literary style. They compass the full range of Christian thought and activity. Our Southern Baptist Library, both in scope and character compares most favorably with other Christian writings. They are expository and we have commentaries that rank with the best in the English language. They are doctrinal, and set forth the teachings of the Scriptures in systematic, simple, and clear cut language, so that he who reads may give a reason for the faith that is in us. They are sermonic, and bequeath to us a rich legacy of pulpit eloquence. They are biographical and tell us of the master workmen who in the days gone by laid the foundations on which we are building. Let us read the lives of our worthy fathers who have passed before us for an example, and catch from them the inspiration for the new tasks of this new day. They are historical, and trace the course of our struggles and sufferings for conscience sake, and for those principles of liberty and justice which are today the world's greatest inheritance. They deal with the teaching function of the churches, and both in books and periodicals there is no higher standard in Sunday school literature. They are missionary, and in calling our people to world-wide evangelization ring true to the great commission, and to the fundamentals in doctrine and methods of Christ and his apostles. Our concern is that this Southern Baptist Literature shall find its way into the homes of our people. This report, therefore, makes a plea for a Southern Baptist book shelf in every Baptist home. As our people become more an educated and a reading people they must have in their hands our best Baptist books. Why would it not be a wise plan for our Sunday School Board to select and advertise a small book shelf of about thirty volumes that shall embrace the cream of our literature, and offer it to our people at a minimum price? Such books as these upon our shelves would be as alabaster boxes of precious ointment, and with the cultured Mary's that come from our schools to open them, they would fill the home with rich and rare fragrance.

The Baptists of the South are especially fortunate in the wealth of its leaflet, tracts and periodical literature. But we can only give room in this report to emphasis upon two of our most important publications.

HOME AND FOREIGN FIELDS, published in the interest of our Southern Baptist Mission Boards, has successfully passed the experimental stage. As combining the Home Field and Foreign Mission Journal it is a signal success. Both as combining our varied work in convenient form in one publication, and in the abundant materials and valuable discussions, the Sunday School Board is to be congratulated upon the way it has measured up to its difficult task. It well deserves a vastly increased circulation and a more careful reading. If we will make the most of it in our homes and churches it will become a powerful factor in our missionary enterprises.

THE BAPTIST COURIER we mention last, not because it is least, but because it is the most important of all. There are three outstanding features in our State organ to which this report calls attention.

1. It is a South Carolina Baptist newspaper. It gives us the news about the comings and the goings and the doings of South Carolina Baptists. Each week it tells us how the battle goes on every front. It especially records every successful drive, and sounds a glad note when a church attains a great objective. It is the medium of our fellowship and in its columns we rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep.

2. The Baptist Courier is our best publicity agency. It stands for all our great denominational work, and brings us each week the appealing facts we need most to know. Its pages, and especially its Denominational, or Educational, or Missionary numbers, are arsenals filled with the munitions of our warfare for God. In these special numbers we never fail to find the high explosives that will put to flight the enemies of our faith and our work. In every emergency we hear its call, whether it be for missions, for education, for benevolence, or to stand for the faith once for all delivered to the saints.

3. The Baptist Courier gives us a safe and sound, yet aggressive, leadership in our denominational life. New problems are continually arising, difficult situations are ever confronting us, and the wise guidance of its editorial page has not failed to clarify our thinking and give balance to our judgment. As the result of the world struggle and our own nation at war, and now entering upon a time of world-wide reconstruction, vital questions have arisen as to the relation of churches to government, and of Christian duty under rapidly changing conditions, and happy are we of South Carolina at such a time as this to have a voice so discriminating, so clear, and so positive to speak to us from the editorial page of our State organ. The supreme plea of this report is a call to South Carolina Baptists to rally to THE BAPTIST COURIER, and give it the support it so richly deserves.

J. S. DILL.

REPORT ON SOCIAL SERVICE AND PUBLIC MORALS

This subject presumes that the church renders a social service, and that such a service has a worthy influence on the morals of the community. But is this a fair presumption? Certainly many churches have no organized work of this kind. However, if social service is a proper form of church work, it is the duty of all churches to do their share of it in their respective communities. The rural as well as the village and city church is called to this sphere of activity. Social service is not to be restricted to congested centers. For social service seeks to improve the environment of the home and the school, and to elevate the individual and corporate life of the people; to comfortably shelter the family; provide just work conditions for labor; raise the standard of personal conduct and business method in the community. Social service is concerned with character building and the conservation of life at its maximum comfort and efficiency; and this service is to be rendered by sanitation, education and regenerative grace of God; all of which are the direct or indirect functions of the church in her ministry of the gospel of grace that brings good tidings to all the people. Hence it is not strange that seventy-five per cent. of modern social service workers are church members. The task is so religious in motive and contemplated result, and should be in method, that only the Christian spirit and consecrated hand are likely to dedicate themselves to the social service proposition. When we properly understand the parable of the "Good Samaritan," we will probably abandon our arbitrary distinction between social and religious forces in society.

Christianity affects the world of human life through a divine, spiritual impulse, which is imparted, first of all, in our spiritual, supernatural regeneration, and which is repeated from time to time, according to personal need and opportunity for Christian testimony and service, and by the infilling or baptism of the Holy Spirit. This impulse is needed in all worthy and effective social service, even as much as the written word of divine revelation. Now the social service worker needs this spiritual impulse and divine guidance, for it is a ministry of persons to one another through individual and organized effort.

The forces of the kingdom must be co-ordinated; this is especially true of the so-called social and spiritual forces; and when this is done after the manner of Francis Willard, the temperance reform angel of the nineteenth century, or Jane Addams, the social guardian of Chicago, or Katherine Bennett Davis, the criminal reformer of New York, then it will be seen that good social service is only another name for practical religion. Social service translates the second law of our holy religion into terms of life, which is correct personal conduct toward others. It is personal conduct that benefits others, who are influenced by what we do. We are contending for a religion that translates our religious creed into deeds of social delight and moral profit.

The modern settlement centers, at first, were generally dissociated from the churches; but are now coming into closer co-operation with them every year. It is now being recognized that settlement work is only one form of religious service. The social service movement is an ordained channel through which the vital spirit of religion may flow out to humanity. It is the church's co-operation with Christ in the uplift of the race. It is not strange therefore, that the great majority of those eminent in business, government or philanthropy are religious men and women. When a certain minister was assuming the pastorate of an important church he was asked this question: "My brother, what are you going to do with it?" "With what?" said the astonished minister. "With this magnificent social force which you have at your command; these splendid men and women, whom you are to lead and counsel. Against what great social evils are you going to hurl this force? Toward what splendid achievements of social and religious uplift are you going to lead it?"

This is a fair question for every pastor: How are you going to direct the social forces of your church? Are you going to ignore them and let them go astray, or are you going to direct them in the sphere of organized church work for the good of the community?

The modern social slogan is, "prevention not cure." Constructive effort rather than remedial work." In this we have the vision of the true social service. True we must keep on rescuing the perishing, but worthy social service will inaugurate ministries of grace that will reduce the rescue work to a minimum. For social service seeks the improvement of the individual, even to the extent of his becoming a citizen of the kingdom of heaven. It keeps on doing for society until it demonstrates the spirit of the "Good Samaritan" and makes the object of its endeavor a worthy citizen in a kingdom of righteousness. It adapts him to the social conditions about him, to his own highest advantage and the benefits of society. This one is enabled to realize through the service he has received his own capacities and take his place in society.

REPORT ON FOREIGN MISSIONS

We praise God for his blessings upon our Foreign Mission work during the past year.

To the Southern Baptist Convention in session at Hot Springs last May our Foreign Mission Board made the greatest report it has ever been able to make. That report reveals the encouraging fact that the Southern Baptists put more money into the regular work during the preceding twelve months than they have contributed to current support in any previous year of the seventy-three of the Board's history. We rejoice that South Carolina Baptists had a most worthy part in making that report possible.

When the Hot Springs Convention estimated that at least one and a half million dollars would be needed to take care of our Foreign Mission work this year the future was overcast with black and threatening war-clouds. Since that time God with the breath of his mercy has scattered those clouds, and now unparalleled opportunities persuade and challenge us to speed the gospel to the whole sin-stricken world. Shall we be less faithful in helping to free the souls of men from the power of sin than we have been to help free the nations of the earth from the power of autocracy? The fatal malady of this world is sin. The one remedy is Jesus.

While one and a half million dollars may seem a large sum to be contributed in one year, when compared with the Southern Baptist numbers and wealth and with what they are doing for other objects, and what others are doing for Foreign Missions, this amount is small.

The Foreign Mission fields represent a thousand millions of people, the most destitute and needy of all the inhabitants of the earth. The work conducted includes everything that our people and our churches are doing at home. A million and a half dollars for this work will not equal a tenth of what we are doing on the same lines for the thirty-odd millions who live in the South, to say nothing of the help which other Christians and denominations are giving to provide religious privileges for the people at home. A million and a half dollars is a great advance upon what we have been doing, and we will have to bestir ourselves to realize it, but it does not measure our full duty in this matter. From the Foreign Mission Board we get the following encouraging statistics:

"There were 6,290 baptisms last year. We have now 464 churches on all the fields, of which 141 have assumed self-support. We have a church membership above 53,000 with 715

Sunday schools enrolling more than 34,000 scholars. In other schools which we are conducting we have enrolled nearly 9,000 scholars. We are conducting theological schools in Japan, China, Africa, Italy, South America. We have but few doctors under appointment, and yet these gave more than 100,000 treatments last year. By his blessing upon the work God is inviting us to enlarge it.

"Eighteen new missionaries were appointed in June and many others are greatly needed. Doors of opportunity are open everywhere.

"Every pastor and every church in this Convention is admonished to lay large plans, organize the forces, and press vigorously the greatest campaign we have ever undertaken for Foreign Missions. Every Christian in this nation is at this time called distinctly to this international Christian service. This Convention should undertake to raise a worthy part of the million and a half dollars, and every church should voluntarily increase its contribution proportionately. The amount of increase for the whole South is seventy-five per cent."

JAS. R. WILLIAMS, for Committee.

REPORT ON HOME MISSIONS

Premier Clemenceau of France has declared that the victories of peace which must follow the world war, will be more difficult than the victories democracy has won in the world's greatest conflict.

The Wise Man in the Proverbs declared that he that ruleth his own heart is greater than he that taketh a city. Democracy has mastered political autocracy. Can democracy master for high and worthy ends the hearts and purposes of the democrats? If it can, the world is entering upon its golden age. If it cannot the Bolshevikism which has already engulfed less favored nations threatens to overwhelm the world. What shall it profit democracy if it shall take away from political autocracy all its vaunted power if it shall in the struggle lose its own soul to the mastery of the mob?

At the close of this war America faces the most titanic problems of adjustment and reconstruction which the world has ever seen. At bottom every one of these problems is spiritual. They are such a challenge to the spirituality and potency of our Christian faith as we have never before confronted. As a spiritual body 3,000,000 Southern Baptists have in the Home Mission Board their own established agency for directing their impact on these problems. This Board has in many a crisis proven itself a vehicle easily adjustable and tremendously effective in functioning for Southern Baptists. Over and over they have through it contributed their strength and devotion to our country by showing it that its best wisdom and its real strength are in God.

The 1,500 missionaries to whose support the funds of this Board are directed are 1,500 lives and voices testifying that God reigns, that Jesus is our Lord and Saviour through his shed blood, and that men are saved from their sins and nations made great, not by might nor by power, but by the spirit of God, through the cross of the Christ.

The Home Mission Board works in needy sections and for needy people throughout the South and in Cuba and Panama. It helps the frontiersman set up a home where he may lead his children and neighbors to remember God. It bids the sons and daughters of neglected mountaineers take cheer of hope that they may train their powers to serve and to broaden the narrow horizons of their lives. It tells the Negro that his white brother really cares for him, and desires to lift him into the fellowship of Christ, and human kindness and helpfulness. It bids the struggling, discouraged little band of believers remember that their big brother, the denomination, is standing ready to help them erect a house in which they and their neighbors may worship God. It speaks words of love to the poor red savage Indian on the plains, and brings him into new faith, clothed and in his right mind.

It negotiates the way to helpfulness to the immigrant from many a land, teaching him at once the democratic gospel of salvation and the worth of political democracy, making him an asset and no longer a potential Bolshevist liability. It goes in the strength of the might of our whole denomination to each weak state convention and nurses into strength feeble state boards overwhelmed by their inability to meet the great needs in their territory. Through its every missionary this Board preaches that men ought to obey God rather than the commandments of men.

There is only time to emphasize a few specific departments of the Board's work.

1. In Enlistment it has a tremendous field of service, so far only touched by Southern Baptists, but not fully entered. The Enlistment work deals with sources of influence, not centers of influence. Baptists control most of the sources of influence in the South. If we shall really cultivate them, we shall in the next generation control the centers of influence. It is the only way in which we can or ought to control them. We rejoice that

Dr. S. Y. Jameson has become the Enlistment Superintendent of the Board, and that already the number of workers and extent of service is being increased. We ought to have hundreds of Enlistment Workers in the South.

2. The Evangelistic Department is taking on greater and new life under the leadership of Dr. W. W. Hamilton. Already the most efficient and successful agency of denominational evangelism in America, it bids fair within two years to double all its former splendid records. Never was a true evangelism so timely as now. Men's hearts have been tried, and men and women and their sons in the armies have thought more deeply and prayed more earnestly than ever before in our time. Many movements of men's wisdom are bidding for their following now, but if we shall bring them to Christ they shall be saved. Only Christ can save their souls. Let us pray for a nation-wide revival, and for God's rich blessings on Home Board Evangelism.

3. Dr. L. B. Warren is finishing this year raising the Home Board's $1,000,000 Loan Fund. He has done this without other salaried assistance. In the remaining months of this fiscal year, South Carolina Baptists must close up their offerings to this fund, and do their full part toward completing the $1,000,000.

4. The Board has in its Publicity Department a great agency for disseminating educational information, and its every book and tract and newspaper article is an earnest effort to contribute to the understanidng of those great principles and facts which challenge Southern Baptists to loyalty to Christ and to a great Home Mission program. Dr. V. I. Masters, Superintendent of Publicity, has recently issued a new Mission Study book, "The Call of the South," which every pastor should read and every mission class study. This and the Home Board's other splendid books are for sale by the Sunday School Department of the State Mission Board at this Convention.

5. Practically every state convention which has met has adopted the enlarged apportionment necessary to make up the $1,000,000 ordered by the Southern Baptist Convention. This they have done with an enthusiasm and heartiness which attests their conviction that the Home Board has before it an immense service for Southern Baptists. Your Committee believes that South Carolina Baptists share that conviction, and we heartily recommend that this body adopt and undertake to raise the $75,000 which has been apportioned to it. It will be needed. While the army camp service is not now so large, sixty per cent. of it will be needed and will be continued till the convention year closes in April. More than sixty workers are yet engaged. What will be saved here, will be urgently needed to perform the looming tasks before us during the reconstruction period.

It only remains to record our sense of loss and that of the Home Board in the passing during the year of Dr. J. D. Huggins, the South Carolina member of the Home Mission Board. His zeal for the cause consumed him. In a real sense he gave his life to Home Missions. It was from the fatigue of his strenuous campaign exertions last spring that his physical forces gave way and God took him. The Home Board never had a more devoted representative in any state and South Carolina Baptists never mourned a truer man of God. Dr. E. J. Smith has accepted the service Dr. Huggins laid down, and South Carolina Baptists will accord him the same hearty helpfulness and good will they give to every worker for the cause of Christ and his kingdom.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN N. NUNGEZER.

REPORT ON OBITUARIES

The reaper death has been active during the past year, and we have to record a number of deaths of pastors and deacons.

Rev. John A. Long, born April 23, 1837; died August 21, 1918.

Rev. John L. G. Hooker was born September 6, 1842, died June 17, 1918. He was a Confederate soldier for four years, from 1861 to 1865. He preached for thirty-five years.

Rev. C. P. Bullock was a preacher of the gospel for many years in South Carolina and North Carolina, and was loved by his churches of the Carolina Association. While on his way to preach on Friday before the fourth Sunday in January, 1918, he was called to his reward. He was sixty-five years of age.

Rev. T. E. Nelson, of Liberty, was called to his reward on March 14, 1918. Brother Nelson's life was spent mostly in Pickens county and his ministry was largely given to work in the Twelve Mile River Association, but a few years ago he moved to Anderson county and had the honor of representing that county in the Legislature.

Rev. W. L. Hayes was killed in an automobile accident near Petersburg, Va., June 17, 1918. In the death of Brother Hayes the Baptist ministry of South Carolina suffers a distinct loss, while it makes a weakening breach in the pastoral rank of the Barnwell Association. He was a whole hearted comrade and a faithful co-laborer with his brethren and with his Lord. His spirit and manner were sweet and impelling. The Master can fill his place.

Rev. Josiah DuBose Huggins was pastor at Denmark at the time of his death, August 5, 1918. He was born in Darlington county June 10, 1856. He held pastorates in Chester, Newberry and Spartanburg counties, also at Paxville, Fort Mill, Beaufort, Allendale, Ebenezer, Williston and Denmark. Brother Huggins was fond of reading, prepared his sermons well and was impassionate in his delivery. He always stood firmly for the right—he was unselfish, pure in thought and purpose. For several years before his death he was the South Carolina representative of the Home Mission Board and did a splendid work.

Rev. W. H. Waters was born in North Carolina; came to Woodruff, S. C., when quite a boy; made his home with Mr. Allen, who aided him in securing an education. He was ordained to the gospel ministry by the Woodruff Baptist church. He gave his life to the pastorate in Spartanburg and Laurens counties. He served one church most of his life, old Friendship church, for about thirty years. He was loved as a pastor.

He married Miss Ida Hallis, near Crosskeys, Union county. They had thirteen children born to them; most of them are living. He was kind and tender in the presentation of the Scripture; aided many pastors in revival work. Until his death he was pastor in Laurens county, near Waterloo. He died after a short illness and was buried in the Spartanburg cemetery October 5, 1918.

Rev. T. L. Smith died in Asheville, N. C., September 1st, 1918, aged forty-four years. He was born in Chester county, South Carolina. After graduating at Furman University, he attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, then held pastorates at Society Hill, New Prospect, Cowpens, Pendleton and Walhalla.

Last fall he went again to the Seminary for some special study and while there acted as assistant camp pastor at Camp Taylor.

Early in the spring he went to Arcadia, Fla., as camp pastor at the large aviation camp located there. June the first his breakdown came.

Brother Smith was a clear, strong preacher, with a winsome spirit, always cheerful and cordial. On Sunday morning, September 1st, he heard the Master's call to come up higher.

Rev. Marion Mayfield Richardson was born near Simpsonville, S. C., January 17, 1876, and died May 15, 1918, at Rock Hill, S. C., being forty-two years of age. He struggled hard for his education; graduated from Furman University in the class of 1910. While a student at Furman he preached for several churches in Greenville and Pickens and Laurens counties.

In 1912 he entered Colgate Seminary, Hamilton, N. Y., and finished the course there in 1915. While at Colgate he supplied churches in New York State and Massachusetts. He became pastor at Clover, S. C., in 1915, and Union church, York county. He was pastor at West End, Rock Hill, at the time of his death. Brother Richardson was well fitted for his work—a man of deep piety, highly successful and greatly loved by his people.

Rev. C. W. Smith, pastor of Fairfax Baptist church, died at the Fairfax Baptist parsonage October 5th, 1918, after a brief illness. This is a death of peculiar sadness. Mr. Smith was not quite thirty years old and had just commenced his life work as a minister of the gospel. He had by his own efforts obtained an education that fitted him for the ministry, being a graduate of Furman University and of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

He entered upon the pastorate of the Baptist church here last May and his genuine piety and affable disposition endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. He visited the home of every white family in this town shortly after he arrived here regardless of what Christian denomination they belonged to and made friends of all of them. During the short time of his life here he visited and preached at several neighboring churches during revival meetings, notably Branchville, where many joined the church.

Rev. Lemuel Hall. Brother Hall was born in Lexington county, seven miles from Batesburg, December 25, 1830, married and baptized in 1853; ordained to the ministry October 28, 1871; died April 10, 1918. These dates are but milestones in his life journey. They reveal but little of his character and life. To appreciate his worth and work it is necessary to know the circumstances under which he lived and labored.

Like many of his day, and some of other days, he was not a child of fortune. He ate his bread in the sweat of his face.

His educational advantages were limited and of a primitive type. His was a strong mind and had he been blessed with college training he would have been eminent for ability and usefulness. With these limitations he read widely and was well-informed, especially along theological lines. He was a Baptist of pronounced type and was ever ready to give a reason for his faith, His ministry was confined largely to churches within reach of his home and many were led to the Saviour through his efforts.

Dr. John T. Anderson was born in Woodruff, S. C., November 20, 1887, and died at Yangchow, China, November 16, 1918. He was a son of Rev. W. A. Anderson. He first attended Furman University and afterwards took the B. S. degree from Wake Forest College. He graduated in 1914 with the M. D. degree from the University of Louisville, and was house physician at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Ky., for a year. After his appointment in September, 1915, he spent a year of further preparation in the New York Post Graduate school, and six months in the hospital work with the Department of Health, New York. He sailed with his bride, Miss Minnie Middleton, whom he married on August 24, 1916.

After a year in the Language School in Peking, he took up work in the hospital at Yangchow, China. At Yangchow he and Dr. R. V. Taylor had made great plans for the future of the medical work in that station. He seemed upon the threshold of a great medical mission career. He was a man of rare Christian spirit and his ability as a physician had already been quite satisfactorily demonstrated. His loss to our service is little short of a calamity. Our hearts go out in tender sympathy to his wife and baby and to his loved ones in the homeland.

Dr. Albert Meredith Sims died after fifty years of faithful service in the ministry. He resigned at Gaffney, S. C., his last pastorate, and spent the remaining years of his life in the home of his son, Mr. R. N. Sims, of Raleigh, N. C.

Though he never again accepted a pastorate, he continued to perform many gracious acts of ministry and personal service in the Master's name until the very end of his life.

Efficient, faithful, consecrated, Dr. Sims was a power for good, a chosen vessel, used of God.

At home, he was a cheerful, thoughtful husband and father, on the street, a patient, prudent adviser, in the pulpit a faithful, fearless preacher of the truth. He had always for his people an onward, upward outlook, whose horizon was not earth but heaven.

During his life he held some of the leading pastorates of the South. His was a wide field of labor, extending over West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Arkansas and Texas.

Dr. Sims was pre-eminently a pastor. He had the shepherd heart. He loved people. He truly loved to minister to those in need and distress. He was probably never excelled as a visitor of the members of his church and congregation. He was a preacher of splendid power and possessed the graces of the orator.

Rev. Archibald Charles Wilkins, D. D., passed suddenly to his reward on Monday night, July 15, 1918, at Westminster, S. C., in the seventy-fourth year of his age.

Just after the Civil War when the fortunes of the people of the South were shattered, Brother Wilkins by dint of economy and perseverance received his training at Rochester University and Rochester Seminary.

He was well-equipped for his work, had a singularly clear mind and his views were always clear-cut, and there was no mistaking where he stood. He held for a short time after graduation a pastorate at the North, but the most of his ministerial life was spent in South Carolina, his native State, where his father, Rev. Samuel B. Wilkins, was pastor for many years.

Dr. Wilkins occupied a number of important pastorates in our State, among them Beaufort, Abbeville and some churches in the Piedmont. Last year he supplied the Manning Baptist church for six months, and at the time of his death he was acting supply for the church at Westminster. He was pure in life and full of usefulness.

He was greatly interested in our denominational schools and in missions and gave largely of his means to them. At the time of his death he was a trustee of Furman University. We shall miss him greatly from our public gatherings, but rejoice to think of him in "the general assembly and church of the first born who are enrolled in heaven."

On Friday, December 6th, 1918, Rev. G. B. Reed, Jr., passed to his reward. He was only thirty-four years of age and in the very beginning of what promised to be a life of unusual service and usefulness.

Brother Reed was a graduate of Furman University and a Ph. D. of the Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

He was pastor at Cameron and Four Holes Baptist churches when his summons came, and no man was ever more beloved by his own people than was he. Besides, because of his leadership in patriotic and every community interest, he was held in high esteem by all with whom he labored. Brother Reed had the capacity of making friends of all and the great throng that attended the funeral services at the cemetery at Bull Swamp—his old home church—attested the great respect in which he was held by all classes.

One of the best arranged church houses in all the State will stand at Four Holes for future generations to remember the sacrifice and leadership of Rev. G. B. Reed, Jr.

Brother Reed leaves a wife and two bright children. Mrs. Reed is the efficient and honored leader of mission work in the Orangeburg Association.

Brother Reed was young, enthusiastic, spiritual, and with a splendid tact as a leader; he will be sadly missed and his place hard to fill.

Rev. E. P. Easterling died February 8, 1918, in a hospital in Charleston. His body was carried to Bennettsville and buried on Sunday. At the funeral there was a great congregation and several brethren who knew the man in his life time spoke loving words. Many of the people from Lake City where he was pastor when he died were there, and many and costly were the floral tributes.

In all of his public life, from the time he entered college as a ministerial student to the day of his death, he faced an unavoidable, immovable limitation: ill health. No man's life story can be told without naming the hard thing in it. The hard thing in E. P. Easterling's life was his body, his eye sight—this disappointed his hopes and thwarted his purposes. This physical defect had to be reckoned with in every thing he tried to do. His life was a wonderful success. He wrought well in every place he ever occupied.

His pastorate in Marlboro county was a glorious success. His work as agent for our colleges was great. His last pastorate at Lake City was on a par with every other work which he undertook. No preacher and pastor ever gripped the entire town as he did in the few years he was there. And all the time he was planning large things for his people. All the time he was in hearty sympathy with every forward movement of the denomination.

Rev. Robert Morris Rabb died February 12th, 1918. He was born and reared at Monticello, in Fairfield county. Early in life he joined the old Little River church and decided to devote his life to the ministry. Coveting the very best preparation possible, he spent long years of study getting ready for his life's work. After leaving the academy at Monticello he graduated at Furman University in the days of Manly and Judson. From Furman he went to Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., graduating there under Doctors Boyce, Broadus, Manly and Whitsett. Later he graduated from Rochester Theological Seminary under that master theologian, Dr. A. H. Strong. Three years later he graduated at the University of Chicago. By this we can see that he was thoroughly prepared "to do the greatest amount of work in the shortest possible time."

He was asked one day by a friend why he spent nine years in theological schools. His answer was, "I am to teach the Scriptures and I must know what and how to teach." "He chose to make of himself an accomplished theologian, linguist and writer. He considered no toil too great in the accomplishment of these tasks."

After finishing his education he served either as pastor or missionary in Kentucky, Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Oregon and California.

To reach the most crying needs and the greatest destitution was the desire of his life. He went upon field after field of this kind, often without money and without price. In these destitute sections he actually founded and built seven churches. While doing this he assisted, with his own labor, seven men to prepare themselves for the ministry.

Many prominent and useful deacons have passed to their reward during the past twelve months.

John Roland Hutchinson, deacon of Grove Station church, died December 17, 1917.

Robert J. Fallaw, deacon of Sandy Run Baptist church for thirty-eight years, died June 20, 1918.

Deacon T. B. Grubbs, of Pleasant Hill Baptist church, Barnwell county, died in July, 1918.

Deacon E. R. Godshall, Mon-Aetna church, Union. Some years clerk of the church. Died, influenza, December 10, 1918.

Bro. B. T. Hembree, deacon of Corinth Baptist church No. 2, died September 22, 1918. His was a quiet, humble, useful life.

On February 6th, 1918, Bro. M. C. Redd, senior deacon of Darien church, church clerk and treasurer, greatly loved by his brethren, passed to his reward.

Brother Henry L. Thompson, who was a deacon of Columbia church, died December 19th, 1917, aged forty-eight; a good man cut off in the prime of a useful life.

Brother Joseph A. Owens, deacon of the Eden Baptist church, of which he was a member for fifty years. He died at the age of seventy-four years, having been faithful to the end.

Deacon W. S. Norris, of Corinth Baptist church, maintained a spotless character and left a good name, having purchased to himself "a good degree and great boldness in the faith." He died in July, 1918.

Brother A. N. Eskew, a deacon of Grove Station church, died December 23rd, 1917, aged eighty-one years. He came to his end in a ripe old age. He spent many years in his Master's service, a leader in his community and church.

Brother M. E. Swails, deacon of the First Baptist church, Florence, S. C., died January 6, 1918, being seventy-three years of age. He was identified with the First church of Florence since its earliest history. He was a good man, a faithful deacon and active in the work of the church.

On December 29, 1917, Mr. Walter J. Perry, after about two weeks of sickness, died at the home of his son, Mr. E. L. Perry, of a high blood pressure. Mr. Perry was sixty-two years of age, a man well known in this community. He was a deacon in the Blaney Baptist church and for several years a faithful superintendent of the Sunday school.

May 26th, 1918, Bro. S. M. Callaham passed from this life at Pelzer, S. C., and was buried in the family plot at Williamston, S. C. He was sixty-four years old and had been a faithful member of the Baptist church since a young man. He had been a deacon for thirty-five years and a faithful Sunday school teacher since he was twenty-one.

Thomas O. Lawton, Sr., died, December 22, 1917, at Grahamville, S. C. He was for many years a deacon of Lawtonville Baptist church, and a consistent Christian citizen. A gentleman "of the old school" he was quiet and unassuming in manner, yet ever stood with great firmness for the right and was quick to respond to the call of duty and to bear the burden of loving service to his church and his Lord, and was his pastor's friend.

On November 22, 1917, near Gaston, S. C., Deacon Perry Fallaw passed away. Brother Fallaw was a deacon of Sandy Run church, and a good one. Among his last acts of life was the presentation of a new rule and minute book to his church.

He made a profession of faith early in life and his many friends believe he lived up to it. He leaves the heritage of a beautiful life to his wife, two children, his father, brothers and sisters. His church cannot forget him.

Brother W. S. Durham, of Chester, died on Friday evening, the seventh instant, after a few weeks illness, and in the sixty-sixth year of his age. For many years he was an honored deacon of Beaver Creek Baptist church, Chester Association, also church clerk, and Bible class teacher in the Sunday school.

At different times he was treasurer of the Chester Association, and a member of the Executive Committee. He attended the meetings of the Association and the State Baptist Convention, and delighted in the fellowship of his brethren.

Brother D. B. Roper was a deacon of Fountain Inn church; also the superintendent of the Sunday school and on the building committee; died December 24th, 1917. It was said by one who knew him well, "I have lost a friend." Brother Roper was one of the finest of men. He was in every sense a man—clean, fair, sane, generous. It is said that no one ever heard him phrase an unclean speech or utter a foul word. He was never heard to say an unkind thing about any living creature. He had no enemies for he would not be an enemy. He was a Christian.

Our beloved brother, J. J. Ray, departed to be with Christ on the morning of June 26th, 1918. Interment was in Blackville cemetery the following day. The esteem of a host of friends was indicated by an unusual array of floral tributes.

He was a son of a Baptist preacher and served as a deacon of Healing Spring Baptist church for more than twenty years.

He was also trustee and clerk of his church, as well as trustee of Healing Spring high school.

All who knew him respected, admired and loved him and he was worthy. He was one of the State's best citizens. He loved the Lord and was devoted to his cause.

James S. Liles died in May, 1918. The loss of our Brother Liles is felt very keenly with us. We miss him in the home, we miss him as companion, we miss him from Sunday school, we miss him at church services.

From early life he took great interest in the work of the Master. He was one of the founders of Bruton Fork church, and as long as he lived there was no other spot on earth as dear to him. He even loved the ground and trees roundabout the building, because they were associated in his mind with the Master's work. Having been an honest citizen, true as husband and father, faithful as Sunday school superintendent and deacon, loyal to the church, and a follower of his Lord.

Samuel Smith Gibbs died September 8th, 1917. He was born in Mocksville, N. C., November 3rd, 1827. He was the oldest of six children, four brothers and one sister. His father died when he was nine years old. Early in life he was thrown upon his own resources. He was the last of the family, two brothers having died this year. He was a Confederate veteran. Mr. Gibbs had been a member of the First church, Greenville, for sixty-five years, being at the time of his death the senior deacon, having served as a faithful officer since 1876. He was loyal to his church, whose doctrines he believed, and his devotion was manifested by a regular life-long attendance upon the services. His end was as calm and peaceful as he lived, and he has left us an example worthy of being followed.

Mr. D. M. Bradham, of Manning, S. C., a deacon and charter member of the Clarendon Baptist church at Alcolu, died September 26, 1918, and was buried at Manning Friday, September 27, 1918.

Brother Bradham was one of our best men. All who knew him most intimately said "he was a good man"—the highest enconium that could be paid to any man.

His was a lovely and sympathetic spirit. In his home he was kind and considerate; the soul of hospitality. He was his pastor's friend and helper, and always an earnest and appreciative listener. We shall miss him greatly. "His memory is blessed."

Dr. F. P. Covington, First Baptist church, Florence, S. C., died, October 6, 1918. The death of Dr. F. P. Covington, of Florence, brings one of the heaviest losses to South Carolina and especially to the Baptists of the State that we have suffered for a long time. He filled a large place in our work and a larger place in our hearts. To describe him would be to recount what is best in the family physician, in the deacon, in the citizen, in the layman, in the denominational leader. Too much could hardly be said. And what might be said of him in these characters would only touch his public life. It would leave unrevealed that in this good man that was best, his inner and his private life. Along with genuine goodness of character he was endowed with excellent ability and wisdom, and his useful life so rich in blessings to others and to the cause of Christ will not soon be forgotten in South Carolina.

Our beloved brother, J. Hansford Fender, departed to be with Christ on the morning of January 23, 1918. Interment was in the Hunters Chapel cemetery on the following day. The esteem of a host of friends was indicated by an unusual array of floral tributes.

He joined the church at Hunters Chapel early in life, and later was elected deacon which office he held until his homegoing. His life both private and public was a model worthy of imitation. All who knew him respected, admired and loved him, and he was worthy. Indeed, he was one of the truly great men in the Baptist ranks in South Carolina, and one of this State's best citizens.

He loved the Lord and was devoted to his cause; serving in love and humility and like his Master willing not to be known. It was hard indeed to give him up. The separation brought pain and deep sorrow to a multitude of hearts.

John Clarence Glover, February 11, 1856-September 13, 1918. Between these dates he built a character and lived a life beautiful to behold and inspiring to contemplate. It was a song laden with heavenly melody; a rare flower shedding its fragrance on every passerby and a benediction to those touched by its gracious influence.

It is given to few men to spend nearly fifty years in the same community and enjoy the increasing confidence which the people had in Clarence Glover. He was indeed "a living epistle read and known of all." His light was undimmed by prosperity and shone with a brighter lustre in the day of adversity. He was utterly helpless for three and a half years from paralysis, but in all that time no word of complaint fell from his lips. His Bible was always near him and those who would were requested to read and pray. He was a member of Batesburg Baptist church nearly all his Christian life and for many years filled the offices of deacon and clerk with great efficiency. After his disability he was made clerk emeritus, a distinct honor.

Bro. Charles E. Danner. He was a most excellent man. He was for many years the leading man in the church and one of the most useful men in the community; mayor of the town at time of his death. His generosity to the church and every other worthy cause was very remarkable. Possessed of fine business qualities, and conducting a successful wholesale grocery store, he was ever ready to contribute liberally to any good cause. Just recently he made a contribution to the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville. He was polite and gracious toward everybody, especially to his pastor and other friends.

Oh, how he will be missed in the Baptist church and town of Beaufort! Without him Beaufort will not seem like the same place. Doubtless he is now enjoying the eternal home "over there" in the mansions of our heavenly Father. He was deacon of the Baptist church at Beaufort thirty-two years, superintendent of the Sunday school twenty-four years—active, big-hearted, sweet spirited.

On November 25, 1917, in Laurens county, the life of Deacon L. S. Crow came to an end. He was a faithful and loving member of the Cedar Shoal Baptist church, punctual in attendance, and served as deacon for many years. He loved the brethren, and he will be among the greatest in heaven because "he was servant of all." Living near the church and cemetery he assisted in conducting more funerals than all others, and never too busy to lend a helping hand.

As a husband he was tender and affectionate, faithful and true to his vows; as a father he was full of pity and tender compassion, affectionate, and devoted to his children. As a neighbor he was kind and fraternal to all, especially to the poor. He loved his church and his pastor. His home was a home for the preachers. True to his brethren, he was steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord. Not only a soldier of the cross, when the war broke out between the states he enlisted in company B South Carolina Cavalry, and ranked as sergeant, and served faithfully through the whole conflict.

He fought a good fight, he kept the faith, and now has gone to receive a crown of righteousness.

William Lee Coleman, of the Johnston Baptist church, Ridge Association, died at his home in Johnston March 12, 1918, in the sixty-fifth year of his life.

Brother Coleman became a Christian in 1885, and joined the Johnston Baptist church. From the beginning of his Christian life he took an active part in the work of his church and association. He held in his church the offices of deacon, Sunday school superintendent, church treasurer and teacher in the Sunday school, and was for thirteen years moderator of the Ridge Association.

He was an alumnus of Furman University, and always took the deepest interest in that institution.

As to his character many things might be said, but words fail to do justice to such as he. He was one of the purest, best and noblest Christian men. If one word describes him better than any other, it is the word faithful; Brother Coleman was faithful: faithful to his home, faithful to his friends, faithful to his church and faithful to his God. In his going the community lost one of its best citizens, the church one of its very best members, and the Association one of its most valued leaders; but our loss was his eternal gain.

Bro. E. E. Smith was born December 4, 1834, and died February 14, 1918, in his eighty-fourth year. He died a member and a deacon of Boiling Springs Baptist church. Thus Brother Smith served as a deacon in his church a little over forty-eight years. He was a bright Christian and a consistent member of the Baptist church nearly sixty-four years, which was from the time he was converted and joined the church until his death.

In the death of Bro. E. E. Smith one of the best citizens of Spartanburg county and of our country has passed away. He was a law-abiding citizen, reared a noble family, and "served the full four years of the Civil War." He was always deeply interested in good schools, and in the welfare of his country in every way.

He was a devout Christian. He read the Bible, prayed in his family, in his church, and was pure in heart, in conversation, and in life. To come into his presence was to come into a pure, sacred atmosphere. His life, his conversation, and his spirit were so pure, that to associate with him made one desire to be better. He was pure in heart, and was a shining light in this world. He was one of those good men whose whole life was uplifting. He was the friend of Christ and his cause.

Major James Lide Coker, born January 3, 1837, at Society Hill; died at Hartsville, S. C., on June 25, 1918. At an early age he began his Christian life and grew in grace and zeal and for many years he served his church and the denomination. His long and useful life, his wisdom and liberality and especially his great contribution to the cause of Christian education in the establishment of Coker College deserve the lasting appreciation of our people.

Those nearest to Major Coker testify to his constant and consistent spirit of loyalty to Christian ideals in his home, in his business and social relations, and in his church. He combined in remarkable measure zeal and wisdom, prudence and power, simple faith in God with open mind and heart for all truth and knowledge. His gentleness made him great, and his firmness of conviction and devotion to duty commanded the confidence and admiration of those who knew him most intimately. A great soul has passed to his eternal reward, and no doubt received his heavenly welcome: "Well done good and faithful servant."

Strength and beauty of character mingled in the make-up of his ever increasing and richly maturing manhood. His strong will was welded with large and humanitarian sympathies. He was not ashamed to be numbered with the disciples of Jesus, and his great mind communed with God's Spirit in simple trust and unfailing faith. Though much occupied with material interests in the prime of his manhood, his large and varied activities did not prevent him from the participation in worship and the thoughtful practice and considerate performance of deeds of kindness. In the days of his strength he determined to "take time to be holy," and much shall we miss his familiar presence in the pew yonder where he habitually sat, a sympathetic and inspiring listener. His attention was courteous and sustained and oftentimes has the preacher been helped and encouraged in the midst of his discourse as he caught the eye and observed the countenance of this most appreciative hearer.

But his was no mere Sunday religion or sanctuary service. Out in the daily and mid-week problems he brought to bear the lofty principles he approved.

REPORT OF APPORTIONMENT COMMITTEE

Most of our associations were represented in the meeting of the Apportionment Committee. The Committee did its very best. It will be observed that larger amounts are being asked for practically all objects. The needs are greater than ever in all the history of our denomination. Not only is the need greater, but we have a larger vision as to the needs. We surely have come upon a new day. Southern Baptists are done with little things. We have found by actual experience that it is easier to do a big thing than it is to do a little thing. Gifts to Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Liberty Loan Bonds, War Savings Stamps are proofs of this statement. We have been truly loyal to our government, shall be less loyal to our Christ and his interests? This Conventional year is to be the best, we trust, in the history of Southern Baptists. We can, and we will.

C B. BOBO, Chairman.

CONSTITUTION

We, the representatives of the constituent body of the State Convention of the Baptist denomination in South Carolina, do agree upon the following articles as forming the Constitution of the Convention, and as the basis of the union:

ARTICLE I.

This body shall be styled the State Convention of the Baptist Denomination in South Carolina.

ARTICLE II.

The comprehensive purpose of the Convention shall be: The union of the Baptists throughout the State in efforts to advance the kingdom of Christ in the world.

The Convention will claim no right to lord it over God's heritage, believing that the right of government, under Christ, is vested in the churches themselves.

ARTICLE III.

Special objects fostered by the Convention, as tending to accomplish its comprehensive purpose, shall be: The Preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of the State; the work of Colportage, including distribution of God's Word and approved Christian literature; the interests of Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Sunday School and Temperance; the work of Christian Education; the maintenance of an Orphanage; and the care of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers; and a Baptist Hospital.

ARTICLE IV.

The work of State Missions shall be entrusted to a State Mission Board, consisting of a President, a Vice President and a Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer and twenty-two other members. This Board shall be elected in sets of five. The first sets elected shall serve for terms of one, two, three, four and five years, respectively; and their successors, all of whom are to serve for terms of five years, are to be elected annually as their terms of office expire, five new men to be elected each year to take the place of the five who have served the longest. Seven members of the Board shall constitute a quorum. The Corresponding Secretary shall be the executive officer of the Board. The Board shall act under general direction of the Convention, and shall make an annual report to the Convention. The Treasurer shall make an annual report of receipts and disbursements.

ARTICLE V.

Among special objects of the Convention, the support of Institutions of Learning in this State shall be considered as primary. The government of these Institutions shall be committed to a Board of Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Convention in accordance with the charter of the Institution.

ARTICLE VI.

In addition to the Boards provided for in Articles IV and V, there shall be: A Board of Ministerial Education, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds to help needy and worthy young men while preparing for the ministry; a Board of Aged Ministers' Relief, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds for the assistance of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers; and a Board of Trustees of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, to whom the entire management of the Orphanage shall be committed, subject to direction from the Convention, and one-third of whose number shall be appointed each year by the Convention; and a Board of Trustees for the management of the Baptist Hospital consisting of eighteen members, one-third of whom shall be elected each year; and a Board of Education consisting of twenty members elected in groups of five annually.

ARTICLE VII.

This Convention shall consist of delegates from the Baptist Associations in this State, who may approve the measures here adopted, and from other religious bodies of the Baptist denomination concerned in the promotion of the same objects with the Convention. Each Association shall be entitled to two delegates at large, and also to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed since the last session of the Convention to State Missions; and any Baptist church, Sunday School, Missionary or Education Society, or individual, shall be entitled to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed since the last session of the Convention to State Missions; and any Baptist church, Sunday school, mission or education society, or individual, shall be entitled to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed as aforesaid, for the purpose named; provided that every such delegate shall be a white member of some Baptist church in the State. The delegates shall be chosen annually, and satisfactory evidence of their appointment shall, on demand, be exhibited to the Convention.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Convention shall have a President, two Vice Presidents, a Secretary and Assistant Secretary, Statistical Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Auditor. The duties severally assigned to the officers of similar organizations shall devolve on those of this body; and they shall hold their office for one year, or until their successors are appointed, unless forfeited by unrighteous conduct.

ARTICLE IX.

This Convention will receive contributions, legacies and bequests for the several objects which it has in charge.

All moneys specially appropriated shall be sacredly applied to the objects designated; but when any contribution or bequests are made without any special designation, discretion in their application shall be exercised by the Convention or Executive Board.

ARTICLE X.

The Convention shall have annual meetings; but in cases of important concern, the President may, at the instance of the Executive Board, call a special meeting.

ARTICLE XI

Any alteration which experience may suggest can be made in these Articles by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting.
